. . . IN DRAFT DEBATE

Senate Leaders Hope For Conscription Vote This Week; Barkley Proposes Registration Up To 45

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Nebraska's two senators—Norris, independent, and Burke, democrat, clashed in senate debate today over whether enactment of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military service bill would mean the creation of a large standing army.

Norris, who previously had expressed the view that conscription would lead to dictatorship, contended that enactment of the compulsory service bill would mean the establishment of an army "so large that it will stagger the imagination of all of us."

Burke replied warmly that this was "one of the most serious misconceptions" of opponents of the bill. He added that present plans were to call only 400,000 for training this fall and a like number next spring, out of the 12,000,000 men from 21 through 30 who would be required to register.

After a year's service, these men would be liable to only 30 days renewal training each year, he said.

"Those men would not be made professional soldiers by the fact that they were taken for a year's training," Burke asserted.

Norris Replies.

"If that doesn't mean a large standing army, I don't know what you would call it," Norris retorted. "It means that you are going to train all of the able-bodied men in the United States and you'll be doing it 50 years from now. That's what Germany did and you see the result of it now."

Burke said opponents of the measure were confusing American opposition to "militarism" with what he said was public support of a training program.

"I think that when you go down into the hearts of the people of this country, you will not find any opposition to adequate military training so that there will be a reserve from which trained men can be drawn in time of war," he declared.

Norris contended that invasion of this country by any "dictator" nation was an impossibility at this time and that by the time Germany, for example, could be prepared to attack the United States, the American navy and air force would be sufficiently powerful to prevent any invasion.

"They Would Like To."

He conceded, however, "that they would like to conquer the United States goes without saying."

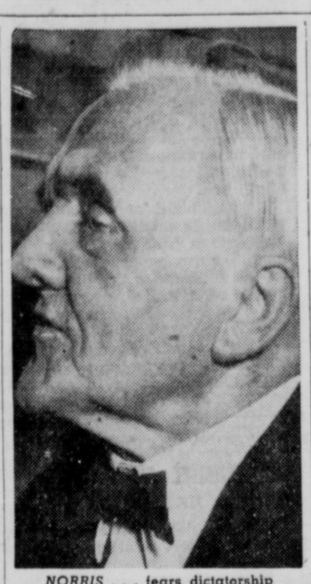

"The one bright hope" in the world situation, Norris continued, was that Japan, Germany Russia and Italy all dreamed of world domination and would one day fight among themselves.

"When that course of elimination commences," Noris declared, "there will be a brighter day than now exists for democracy."

Terming talk of a German invasion in the near future "silly and preposterous," Norris said that Hitler had only 22 miles of water to cross to reach England "and he can't get over."

"It will be 1946 before Mr. Hitler gets his navy built up and his transport system built up to where he can come across the

12 Germans Bail Out Over Single Town In England

. . . All Rounded Up

LONDON, Aug. 12—(INS)—The population of an English southeast coast town was increased by 12 today—all German airmen who bailed out of their crippled planes and landed safely.

One came down right in the middle of a busy street. Police and local volunteers quickly rounded up the lot.

Roosevelt Visits Torpedo Station

President Says Work At Plant Is Well Up To Schedule

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 12 — (AP) — President Roosevelt inspected a vital defense area today and said the Newport training station once more would become one of the navy's main training centers and that work at the torpedo plant was well up to schedule.

There are 4,200 employes at the plant—nearly twice as many as 18 months ago—on three round-the-clock shifts.

The station recently was granted a $1,385,000 appropriation for expansion and $750,000 will be used for a new assembly plant. So many orders for torpedoes have piled up that the station lets out some of its work to private industry but most of the secret and complicated parts still are made at Newport.

Visits Air Base.

To wind up the morning's share of his inspection the president boarded the Potomac again to cross Narragansett bay and get a view from the ship of the site of a $25,000,000 air base at Quonsett point.

The base, which will help protect the sea lanes to New York and New England's busy industrial centers, already is under construction.

After Quonsett point, the next scheduled stop was at the submarine base at New London, Conn., where the president was due to go ashore from the Potomac late this afternoon.

Safe Is Robbed

GRAND ISLAND, Aug. 12 — (AP)—In excess of $125 in cash was stolen from a safe in the office of the McGuire moter company which was "pried open" sometime between the closing hour late Saturday night and two o'clock Sunday afternoon, Police Chief Zachry announced today.

Rains Boom Outlook For State Crops

. . . SORGHUMS TO FORE

Lincoln Moisture Total Is .77; Over Inch At Several Points; Wide Area Aided

More rain soaked over eastern Nebraska beginning Sunday and by noon Monday, Lincoln had a total of .77 of an inch while several other points in this territory measured more than an inch.

The fall here brought to 3.31 inches of moisture received since August 1.

University of Nebraska crop men declared the rain of considerable benefit to crops. D. L. Gross, extension agronomist, said the moisture should be of help to the late corn.

He indicated that a fine sorghum crop, both forage and grain, is now developing in this part of the state. Given good weather, Gross said there is plenty of time for the sorghums to mature.

Chance For Grasses.

This is the first of several years, Gross added, that weeds have started in stubble land and given farmers a chance to provide good seedbeds for grasses. Farmers in this section have been waiting to plant brome and alfalfa mixture and the best time for planting is between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

A. E. Anderson, state and federal crop statistician, said corn would be helped by cool weather for another week or so and would then be ready for warm sunshine to finish it out before frost. More rain in about 10 days would be welcome, he said.

Covers Big Area.

Moisture fell pretty well over the southeast and eastern part of the state from west of Hastings to the Missouri. The west and northwest, however, remained dry but cool.

Omaha led the early official rain reports with 1.44 inches. Sioux City, Ia., got .70.

Rain reported by the Lincoln Telephone company:

Syracuse	1.06	Weep. Wat.	1.30
Auburn	.53	Ashland	.61

The moisture came quietly, in most instances unaccompanied by wind. Clouds were soft and dense and the air heavy with moisture, even when it wasn't raining. The airport weather station reported a "dew point" of 69 Monday morning compared with the usual reading of 55 or 60.

There were hard showers southeast of Lincoln Sunday afternoon,

Both British, Nazis Claim Heavy Toll; London Says Citizens In Streets Are Machine-Gunned

LONDON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Thirty-nine German planes were known to have been destroyed and nine British planes are missing in today's air battles around the British coast, an air ministry communique said tonight.

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Hundreds of German air raiders struck some of the hardest blows of the war along the 125-mile stretch of England's south coast between Dover and Portsmouth today, but Britain's defenders again claimed a heavy toll of the nazi dive bombers.

At least 18 and possibly twice that many were brought down in today's widespread air combats, the British said. (The Germans claimed 71 British planes for the day's toll.)

Chief targets of the German blasts were "a southern town (identified by German dispatches as the great naval base of Portsmouth) and "a southeastern port" (which the Germans said was Dover).

Four waves of bombers smashed at the latter objective, the fourth coming late in the afternoon. The raids were continuing early tonight, with an ineffectual raid on another southeastern town.

The greatest blast, however, apparently was loosed on the "southern town" (Portsmouth), attacked at noon.

Pace Stepped Up.

The Germans began their intensive aerial attacks on June 18, stepped up the assault last Thursday to the scale of 400 raiders and continued that pace yesterday and today.

(The Germans reported shooting down a total of 164 British planes yesterday and today.)

Two hundred German planes struck at the "southern town" but the British said they pre-

Two hundred German planes attacked the important British base at Portsmouth Monday as the aerial warfare grew intense. Shaded circles in this map show districts where major British industries are located which have been most frequently bombed by nazi fliers. English sources admit damage and casualties have been inflicted in northwest England (1), the Midlands (2), Bristol Channel (3) and the Strait of Dover (4).

"Before the Showdown"

By J. E. LAWRENCE.

Monday, August 12, 1940.

THE BRITISH ISLES were today once again standing up to the most terrific aerial onslaught of the war as the wide-scale German raids which began Sunday were continued without letup. In another corner of the empire the Italians continued their drive toward Berbera on the Gulf of Aden and in the Far East signs grew apace that Japan may gain her desires in French Indo-China without a struggle.

"THE LAST STAGE"—Nazi planes roared along the battered coast of Britain Monday in what German officials called "the last stage before the final showdown." German spokesmen indicated their present goal is to cripple the Royal Air Force, destroy key British naval harbors and disrupt vital industries and airports in England.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS—British and German claims continued Monday to differ widely. London said its RAF fighters, attacking in "relays," broke up a 200-plan Nazi assault in a battle over the channel but from Berlin came a counter-assertion that the Royal Air Force is beginning to crack. "It is our impression that the British are no longer able to offer a complete chaser barrier along the south coast," German military quarters said in a communique. "Thus the Britishers give the first indication that their resistance is breaking down."

EXTENT OF BATTLE—Despite the variance in London and Berlin stories, it was clear from the reports of both sources that the great southeast England naval base at Portsmouth and shipping in the Thames estuary were the chief targets of attack. Germany, moreover, claimed its bombs had destroyed the Manston airport until only ruins and ashes remained. The British said 400 German planes took part in Sunday's raids and although summary figures were not given it seemed likely that Monday's conflict was even greater.

THE SIGNIFICANCE—Without attempting to list British and German claims on enemy ships shot down, the significance of the increasing tempo of aerial warfare is still apparent. For one thing, it is the first sustained 48-hour air assault the Nazis have launched against the British Isles. For another, neither England nor Germany claims that the other's air losses in a single day's air fighting exceeds 100 planes. The best available reports say that German aircraft plants are turning out about 100 new planes a day and that Germany has 12,000 first line planes and 10,000 second class planes in reserve. The latest British reports say that, including its purchase in America, its aircraft production is now on a par with Hitler's. All this suggests the observation that if Hitler is determined to go "all out" in his air assaults on Britain before the late September fogs set in the day may be near when the air raiders over the British Isles will be numbered in thousands rather than hundreds. The British said Monday, however, that their defenses are standing up better than anticipated, that British anti-aircraft fire Sunday was the finest ever seen and that British Spitfire and Hurricane fighters have

Royal Air Force Battles Valiantly In Defense of Isles; Great Portsmouth Base Attacked; Nazis Claim 164 British Planes Shot Down

(By the Associated Press)

Nazi warplanes by the hundreds—including a 200-plane armada in a single thrust—lashed with blitzkrieg fury against England today, attacking British balloon barriers, harbors, channel shipping and the great naval base of Portsmouth.

An unofficial German tally listed 164 British planes destroyed in the two-day assault—including 71 today—which opened Sunday with an intensity hinting that the long-awaited "zero hour" may now be at hand.

Only 17 nazi planes were reported missing.

Berlin dispatches said record-sized fires were started at Portsmouth, the base of the British home fleet, and that the Manston airport in Dorsetshire was left in ruins by a concentrated bombing attack.

The official German news agency, DNB, asserted that Hitler's air force had already begun to seize air superiority—the first step preluding actual land invasion in other nazi conquests—and that British R.A.F. planes were no longer attacking German raiders.

The British retorted that R.A.F. fighters broke up a mass flight of 200 nazi planes and drove all but 55 back across the channel.

Pour Across Channel.

London dispatches said that by early afternoon at least 14, possibly 16, German planes were shot down. The Berlin radio counter claimed that 23 R.A.F. planes were destroyed in the opening phase of the day's battles.

German planes were reported still pouring across the channel in apparently growing numbers.

The raiders sniped at barrier balloons, strung in protective networks like mines floating in the air, along the south English coast. Four of the "sky traps" were reported shot down over Dover.

"Large scale enemy activity is taking place over a wide area in the chanel and Thames estuary" the British air ministry reported.

DNB, the official German news agency, said that the raids inflicted "new severe blows" and that the battle was still under way.

Battle High In Air.

The nazi high command asserted 90 British planes were destroyed in yesterday's spectacular air fights, with three others shot down by anti-aircraft fire. Twenty-one German planes were reported missing. The official British score was 60 German planes shot down; and 26 British craft.

More than 100 planes clashed in this morning's first sky battle, staged over the English channel and the hills of the southeast coast.

Droning through the sunrise haze at an altitude of 20,000 feet, the nazi bombers and Messerschmitt fighters were intercepted by British planes. RAF Spitfires knifed down to break up the Messerschmitts, which attempted to keep "flying circle" formations to protect each other.

An eye witness said one nazi plane "made a flaming torch" as it plunged into the sea.

New international complications developed in southeastern Europe meanwhile as authoritative fascists

South Atlantic Coast Is Struck; Danger Passes After Tropical Storm Veers Inland

Two persons died at Savannah, Ga., during the gale yesterday, and a report from Beaufort county, S. C., said there were ten unidentified dead there.

Historic Charleston, S. C., a city of 75,000 population, suffered considerable property damage but no loss of life was reported. Earlier reports over a shortwave radio station of six persons drowning at Folly Beach near Charleston were not confirmed.

The storm which originated in the West Indies early last week turned inland early Sunday between Savannah and Charleston.

Valentine Man Murders Wife, Takes Own Life

Father Of Nine Coldly Fires A Second Shot When Fails To Die

VALENTINE, Neb., Aug. 12 — (AP)—How a father of nine children, his wife slain at his feet, apparently shot himself in the head and, when he didn't die, coldly fired a second bullet between his eyes was told today by County Attorney W. B. Quigley.

The official said Clarence Mooney, about 55, a WPA worker, apparently the result of long domestic difficulties, fired two bullets into his wife's forehead, then turned the gun on himself while four of his children were at a movie Saturday night.

The children returned and went to bed unaware of the tragedy and the bodies weren't discovered until Sunday when a nephew, Joe Ruther, came for a visit and found the family apparently asleep.

Mrs. Mooney, about 47, was a chambermaid in a Valentine hotel.

Revolver In Hand.

Quigley said officers found a .32 caliber revolver with four empty shells in Mooney's hand. His body was lying on the floor on the opposite side of the bed from that of his wife.

In Mooney's head were two separate bullet wounds, the first apparently only grazing the skull.

Mr. and Mrs. Sant Hale who lived below the Mooney apartment, told Quigley they heard four explosions about 10:30 p. m., Saturday, but they looked around and decided they must have been the backfire of an automobile.

Mooney formerly was a farmer at Elgin, Neb., moving here several weeks ago. The other five children live in this vicinity.

Senator Burke In Plea For Defense Works for Midwest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—William S. Knudsen, production chief of the national defense commission, was visited Monday by 14 middle western senators who urged that defense factories built or subsidized with government funds be placed in their section of the country.

Among them was Senator Burke of Nebraska. They were told that of the $1,900,000,000 of defense contracts already cleared by the commission, $473,000,000 were navy contracts, which had to go to coastal establishments, and that 91 per cent of the remainder was awarded to bidders instead of being let by negotiation.

ESCAPING CUSTODY CHARGE IS DRAWN

A complaint charging Donald Blake, young reformatory inmate, with escaping custody was drawn Monday afternoon by County Attorney Towle, and will be filed Tuesday. Blake was captured in Council Bluffs Sunday after six hours of freedom from the institution.

CUDAHY LEAVES BY CLIPPER FOR U. S.

Reprimanded Ambassador To Belgium Says He Knows What Discipline Is

LISBON, Aug. 12 — (AP) — John Cudahy, U. S. ambassador to Belgium who was reprimanded last week by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles for his comments on the situation in Belgium, left for the United States by clipper today.

Also on board the plane was Orme Wilson, American consul at Brussels.

The ambassador, ordered to return to make a report and explain the London press interview in which he made his remarks, confined himself today to this:

"I know what discipline is after seven years' service."

It was learned that Cudahy saw Foreign Minister Lord Halifax, Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook, and Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare, while in London and that he told friends none took exception to his published remarks.

(In the interview Ambassador Cudahy observed that Belgium faced a famine this winter unless food was shipped through the British blockade. He also asserted that nazi invaders of Belgium behaved well and perhaps better than American soldiers would have done in the same circumstances.)

More than 20 species of prehistoric mammals are represented among the fossils taken from the Miami, Tex., fossil quarry.

Demobilization Of French Army Nearly Complete

2 Million of Approximately 5 Million In Service Captured by Nazis

VICHY, France, Aug. 12—(AP)—Demobilization of the French army will be completed Wednesday, it was announced today, with release of the last specialists, such as butchers and bakers.

Of the approximately 5,000,000 men mobilized during the war, it now is admitted that 2,000,000 were captured by the Germans. No considerable number of these have been released so far.

After demobilization only sufficient troops will be retained to maintain public order and guard certain vital points such as coastal and colonial centers. The exact number of these troops has not been made public.

Men from the occupied zone forced to remain in the unoccupied area for the present will be given work on farms, in forestry and in improving lines of communication.

French air force fliers shot down 982 German planes between May 10 and June 10, losing only 306 planes themselves in spite of 5-to-1 nazi odds, the under secretary for air said.

Consolidation Of U. S. Industry For Defense To Take At Least Year

Far From Goal Of Adequate On Supply Front, Asserts War Department Aide

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Robert P. Patterson, new assistant secretary of war, said today that consolidation of American industry for defense purposes would take at least a year.

"And a year is a luxury that we may never enjoy," he added in an address welcoming a group of officers who will study at the army industrial college.

"We are still far from our goal of adequate preparedness on our supply front," Patterson said. "Our principal enemy is time. At the present rate, we cannot achieve our armament objectives in days, weeks, or months."

Asserting that procurement plans had been well drawn, he continued:

"We believe that in an emergency free men can forego personal advantage and unite in a determined effort to win common gains. The keynote of our program, therefore, is not compulsion but co-operation."

A survey by the national defense commission, meanwhile, showed that industry would not have to be compelled at present to fill defense orders before taking care of private or foreign buyers.

Youths Admit Breaking Zephyr Train Windows

. . . Also Confess Thefts

The mystery surrounding the throwing of rocks through the windows of the Zephyr and another Burlington train some time ago was solved Sunday evening when two youths admitted the vandalism to Lincoln police.

These two and three others, arrested at the same time, also admitted breaking into box cars and stealing cigarets and other items. The boys range in age from 11 to 15.

Two older boys, one an ex-convict, confessed to buying the cigarets and were held on an open charge.

The father of one of the younger boys was taken into custody when it was learned that he had smoked several packages of the stolen cigarets.

Don Hudson and Lamont Allsman were charged with petty larceny as a result of the confession. The younger boys had confessed that they stole cigarets from a Rock Island box car, hidden them in a cement mixer.

Hudson and Allsman took the cigarets from the mixer, sold them for fifty cents a carton. They pleaded guilty when arraigned before Municipal Judge Fisher, and were sentenced to 30 days in jail each, and ordered to make restitution and pay costs.

Labor Dispute In Bendix Plant Ends

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 12—(AP)—Resumption of normal operations at the Bendix Aviation Corp. was ordered today with the announcement of a settlement of a labor dispute which had retarded production of carburetors for commercial and military plane motors.

"A mutually satisfactory settlement" was announced last night after two days of negotiations between the management and the CIO United Automobile Workers of America, presided over by James F. Dewey, ace federal conciliator in the automobile and aircraft industries.

Details of the agreement were witheld pending its ratification by union members at a meeting tonight.

The management said some union members had been responsible for a slow-down and had violated the UAW-CIO contract with the company. It also said the union had objected to the hiring of seven foremen recently.

Prisoners Work On French Farms

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—The German wireless, quoting the French newspaper Paris-Soir, said today that German authorities in occupied France had placed "whole contingents of French war prisoners at the disposal of French farmers" and were predicting a record harvest.

The German broadcast was heard here by CBS.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — There have been two backstage developments regarding the radio broadcasts of Colonel Lindbergh. One is the fact that the men who originally encouraged him to go on the radio now are backing vigorously away. The other is the still unsolved mystery of those now behind him.

The two men who originally got the flying colonel on the air are Fulton Lewis, radio newscaster, and William R. Castle, Jr., under-secretary of state during the Hoover administration. Castle now denies emphatically that he is having anything to do with recent broadcasts, while Lewis intomates that the farther he keeps away from Lindbergh's microphone the better.

ANNE LINDERGH
. . . Differs with her husband

The man who now seems to be close to the flying colonel is Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, who is violently anti-British and pro-appeasement. Whether or not McCormick inspired Lindbergh's latest speech is not known, but Lindbergh was McCormick's house guest while in Chicago.

Mysterious Colonel Smith

Another man who has been close to Lindbergh is Colonel Truman Smith, of U. S. army intelligence, and the army's chief specialist on Germany.

Colonel Smith was stationed at Fort Benning, before the advent of Hitler, when some German officers came there for training. He became a great friend of the officers, and as military attache in Berlin several years later, renewed that friendship. In fact he was giving amazingly accurate information regarding the German army.

For instance, when Germany moved into Poland last year, Colonel Smith was able to tell the war department the points which the German army would take, and almost the exact hour it would take them. At first, the war department would not believe his information, eventually had to admit its soundness.

Colonel Smith got to know Lindbergh in 1938 when the latter spent much of his time in Berlin, so when Lindbergh now comes to Washington, sometimes for broadcasting, he frequently stays at Smith's house. The Colonel was reported to have had a hand in writing some of the broadcasts. This he later denied.

Opposite Lindberghs.

Mrs. Dwight Morrow, widowed mother-in-law of Colonel Lindbergh, isn't the only member of his family who disagrees with him on his anti-British, pro-appeasement views. The flier's wife, author of the moving "North to the Orient" and "listen, the Wind," also sees differently from him.

The mother of two small boys and fearful of the limelight, Mrs. Lindbergh has shrunk from a public expression of her strong anti-Nazi beliefs. But personally she feels just as forcefully about them as her gangling husband does about his opposite convictions. Since he has taken to the public arena as the leading appeasement champion, Mrs. Lindbergh has become even more secluded than before.

Hoosier GOP Maestro.

The producer and stage manager of the Wendell Willkie acceptance ceremonies at Elwood, Ind., is the same man who conceived, financed and directed the famous GOP "Cornfield" conference rally in the fall of 1938.

HOMER CAPEHART
. . . He's Willkie's maestro

He is red-headed, explosive Homer Capehart, the heavensent angel of the republican party in Indiana.

Between him and the G. O. P. standard bearer there are a number of bonds of affinity. Like Willkie, Capehart was born in the Hoosier state, made his money in New York, owns an Indiana farm, used to be a democrat, and is a newcomer in the political arena.

Capehart's $25,000 cornfield meeting in southern Indiana was something new in politics. It attracted national attention and was a big success.

He is maestroing the Elwood show with the same care and dash that he lavished on his grassroots rally. Capehart has scattered local committees all over the scenery.

When some of the local bigwigs gloomily predicted serious parking difficulties, Capehart gave two quick puffs on his long fat cigar, surveyed the area, and then observed, "See those corn fields over there? Get hold of the farmers who own them, buy the crops and level off the fields. That'll solve your parking problem."

Henry Baker, 32, Loses Foot Under Eastbound Zephyr

. . . Victim Is Confused

Henry Baker, 32, a state hospital attendant, lost a foot under the eastbound Zephyr Sunday night, although the circumstances are still somewhat a mystery.

Baker was suffering from shock, and was unable to give police a rational story of the accident. His physician said Monday noon that he was much improved, but still suffering shock.

Police do know that the accident occurred on the main line of the Burlington, south of the reformatory along Haines branch. His car was parked about 500 feet from the right-of-way.

Baker evidently crawled the 500 feet to his car after the accident. He pulled himself into the car, drove it to the home of Mrs. J. L. White, where he stopped the car, cried for help.

Mrs. White sent a child to summon the neighbors. Leon Leach and Clarence Giles came in response, took Baker to the hospital.

He was not able to tell police or Burlington special agents what he was doing on the tracks.

Baker told Deputy Sheriff Myles Holloway that he picked up two men between Gooch's mill and Van Dorn street. Baker said he thought he knew one of them but that when they got into the car he discovered he didn't. They told him to drive on Van Dorn street, Baker said, and he doesn't remember what happened after that.

Robert J. Amen To Leave For Annapolis

. . . Former Star Carrier

Robert J. Amen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad J. Amen, 427 C street, will leave Friday night for Annapolis to begin his four year course at the United States Naval academy.

Robert J. Amen

Amen, a resident of Lincoln all his life, was notified of his appointment at the end of July and was accepted on the basis of his former grades and did not have to take an examination. The late Congressman George Heinke sponsored Amen's application.

Amen graduated from Lincoln high school and attended the University of Nebraska for a year and a half. He was a Lincoln Star carrier for three years.

Amen stated that his lifelong ambition had been to enter the navy and now he plans to work hard and fulfill that ambition.

An Eagle scout since January, 1938, Amen is assistant scoutmaster of Troop No. 13.

Forest Fire Burns 34 Cabins In California

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 12—(AP)—The worst forest fire in a decade in this area roared down the seaward slope of the Santa Ynez range toward Santa Barbara today after wiping out 34 summer cabins and engulfing 2,000 acres in flames.

S. W. Kellar, an aviator who flew over the area, said 30 cabins were wiped out at the Painted Cave summer resort on the Santa Barbara side of the pass and four houses were on fire near the summit. Sheriff's officers ordered evacuation of the colonies. It was believed no lives were lost.

Jobs For 2,500,000 Within Year Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP) A prediction that the defense program would cause within a year the employment of 2,500,000 persons now out of work came today from the American Federation of Labor.

The federal reserve board said that the ranks of the unemployed had been reduced about 500,000 in the last year. About 1,000,000 jobless persons found work, it reported, but a new crop of youth arriving at working age partially offset the re-employment.

"The number of persons out of work is still large," the board said.

Cattle Decline

Because of poor pasturage and lack of feed, particularly in the central section, cattle are moving out of Nebraska.

The Agricultural Marketing Service at Washington reported that the number on feed Aug. 1 was six per cent under last year's total. Nebraska was far ahead of Kansas, however, where cattle declined 18 per cent in numbers.

British Answer To Nazi Bomber Believed Found

. . . In Barrage Balloon and New Anti-Aircraft Gun

By ROBERT E. BUNNELLE.

ON ENGLAND'S SOUTHEAST COAST, Aug. 12—(AP)—The men who man the ships which guard and feed Britain believe the British have found or are finding an answer to the dive bomber.

These men see the British reply to the German Stukas as two-fold:

The barrage balloons being tried out by the shipping convoys to keep the bombers high enough to prevent accurate aim;

A new, multi-barrelled anti-aircraft gun which nails the bombers if they come in low.

This new gun is a pom-pom which fires shells an inch or more in caliber, constructed so delicately they explode at the slightest contact. British who have seen the guns in action praise them highly.

The barrage balloons, among the targets of yesterday's heavy nazi aerial attacks, are said to be a big help in warding off the bombers but do have their drawbacks.

They are vulnerable to the cannon-fire of the German Messerschmitts, are a drag on the ships which tow them and thus slow down the convoys, require a certain amount of "babying" and expert handling, and are hard to maneuver in the stiff winds which frequently whip over the English channel and the North sea.

The height at which they are flown depends on the wind currents. The balloonists fly them where they ride easily and then, when the need arises, let them up to the most effective height, aiming either to get the bombers caught in the balloon cables or to make the planes fly too high to be able to aim their bombs with full effectiveness.

Yesterday's attacks began as a surprise assault on the balloons.

But soon it developed into wave after wave of bombers and fighters aiming at the town where I was, until the sky was thick with planes darting in and out of puffs of anti-aircraft shells in bitter dog-fights that ranged all up and down the coast.

NINE RESCUED AFTER CRUISER EXPLOSION

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—A blast aboard Movie Producer Albert Warner's cruiser Restless threw nine guests into the bay yesterday and sank the craft.

Some of the passengers were burned, none seriously. The explosion occurred as the engine of the 65-foot cabin boat was started.

Warner was in a small boat apparently making ready to cast off at the time. He picked up several of the guests, while a speedboat from the nearby estate of William B. Leeds rescued the rest.

Mrs. Bessie Warner, wife of the producer, was one of those suffering minor burns and shock. Cause of the blast was undetermined.

45 DIE IN CANADIAN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

TORONTO, Aug. 12—(AP)—At least 45 persons met death in Canada in week-end accidents.

Of that number, 11 were killed in highway accidents, three died in railway crossing accidents and one was killed in a plane crash.

Quebec headed the list of provinces with nine drownings, nine killed on highways and one death in a plane crash.

What! No Butter?

URBANA, Ill.—(AP)—Budgets kept by 472 Illinois farm families have disclosed that the average person in that group last year consumed 42 dozen eggs, 39 pounds of poultry, 86 pounds of pork and 82 gallons of milk. The budgets also showed that each homemake in the group served about 4,692 meals, at a cost of 12 cents each. The food bill per family was about $565, of which $338 was furnished by the farm and $227 was purchased.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

OLD FRIENDS

Well—here we go with letters from some of those people you like so much and have inquired about so many times—Mrs. V. A. V., Bessie, Pearl, A Worker, Roger, Wage and Victor all came through with flying colors to my call for letters, and I do want them to know how very much their efforts are appreciated We also have some very interesting letters from other writers, which you shall read before the vacation period is over—When you read this, Minerva will be heading towards the west coast and will doubtless join the band of San Francisco fans upon her return—Meantime, to the letters:

Dear Minerva: What establishes the standards for women?

The query is prompted by a report by the Keely institute that alcoholism among women has increased 90 per cent in seven years. Possibly that should be laid at the door of repeal, or of the legalized sale of liquor. I am inclined to believe something more fundamental than repeal accounts for the increase in alcoholism.

It is not popular to be even a trifle old-fashioned in this era of moderning living. It is pretty much of a bore to reveal even the slightest speck of innate chivalry which prompts men to exalt womanhood and to place her on a pedestal far beyond the average reach. She wants excitement, and fun, and laughter, and gayety and the attention of the opposite sex.

No other explanation satisfies the spectacle of hundreds of women thronging the cocktail lounges and the bars of the larger cities, side by side with men, drinking away the hours, and forming contacts bad and good.

AMAZED

Recently the writer was east and was amazed that the painted lily and the woman of the home unknowingly sat side by side—frequently the painted lily far more circumspect in conduct, far more demure and far less open in invitation to those of the other sex, except when the painted lily spied what appeared to be a "prospect."

This is harsh but true. It is a voice in the wilderness—no man who would suggest there was much to commend, as well as much to condone in the old fashioned status of woman. All that can be hoped for is a more wholesome development free from the burden of the past and most of all free from the dangers of the present.

What is the answer?

—OLD-FASHIONED.

A. What is the answer? Patience. Patience with women while they flutter around, trying their wings and singeing them at the bright flame of experience.

Women are new to the world—Or perhaps I should say—the world is new to women. For so many centuries women were kept in the background, to be worshipped or mistreated as the men saw fit. The change in women did not come with their privilege to cast a vote—there is much more to it than that. Of course we are supposing that women have changed—I can't say that I believe that is altogether true, but we will work on your assumption and not mine.

Problems of economics have had much to do with the difference we may find in the attitude of women these days. So many women have had to enter fields of business hitherto occupied only by men—so many women have been left with small children to suport, or single women with mothers and fathers to care for, that they have had to shed much of the shelter and protection that was their in years past.

EVERY STEP

The woman in business has had to fight almost every step of the way. Men have resented her—other women have resented her. It is not a question of refusing chivalry, it has become a matter of trading it for an equal chance with men in the business and professional realms. I believe sincerely that women are much more honest than they were in generations past—They don't resort to subterfuge, to fainting spells, to hysterics—they don't deliberately work their wiles upon men just to better their business chances—Perhaps there may be some who do—but I'm speaking of the rule, not the exception. I personally have no respect for the business or professional woman who expects concessions merely because she is a woman—that is dishonest. If she wants her equal chance—she should be willing to play the game fairly, and not demand advantage because she is a poor, weak defenseless little woman.

You speak of the "painted lily." There always have been painted lilies, and probably there always will be, just as always there will be "prospects."

I know that the so-called modern woman—that is, the woman who thinks of herself as being "the modern woman," probably bends backward to convince people that she is modern—She drinks too much sometimes—she does not behave as most of us think ladies should behave, but the time will come when the transition will have been made—the business woman, the modern woman, the progressive woman, whose instincts really are just as fine as those of her grandmother and her greatgrandmother, will settle back into normalcy—But heaven forbid that she ever settle down mentally into a rut. That would be tragic.

I don't believe that woman choose to be exalted—They want respect—yes, but every woman knows how to demand and keep respect. What she does want is her place in the sun—her chance to prove that she has a brain. She is just as capable today of taking the bumps and the hardships as were her ancestors—and in many respects tshe has more to take. The woman of today is as much of a pioneer as the woman who traveled westward in the covered wagon so many years ago—Her hazards, while of a different type, are as great—and she certainly should be forgiven for her mistakes and encouraged in the belief that the world was made for women as well as men.

INSURING NEBRASKA WHEAT

GRAND ISLAND, August—This is the heart of that section of Nebraska where the wheat crop insurance program, one phase of the farm program, has been of greatest assistance to drouth farmers. More than 57,000 Nebraska wheat growers took out insurance in 1940, covering approximately a million and a quarter acres planted to the grain, and as a result will collect claims for an estimated six to eight million bushels of wheat destroyed by intense heat and lack of rainfall.

The greatest volume of claims under the wheat insurance program in proportion to insurance contracts were filed by farmers living in Hall, Hamilton, Merrick, and York counties. It was there the drouth was most acute and the small grain crops, including wheat suffered severely. Hamilton, with 2,243 insurance contracts, produced 1,502 loss claims; Hall with 1,229 contracts had 691 loss claims; Merrick, with 749 insured growers, had 390 claims; and York, with 2,202 contracts had 732 claims. Naturally that is not the normal experience and simply reflects the intensity of drouth conditions. At the same time the value of the program was demonstrated strikingly by the developments here. Farmers have been protected who would have had only a complete loss.

THE most heavily insured sections of Nebraska, those counties where a larger percentage of the farmers protected their fields against drouth and other losses, strangely produced the fewest claims. The best wheat area in 1940 was in the southeastern region and in such counties as Saunders and Cass. There the harvest was one of the most abundant in recent years and uniformly the grain was of high quality. In Saunders county only 11 of 2,834 wheat growers who held contracts filed loss claims, and no claims were received from Cass county or from Otoe, which had 2,170 contracts and 1,329 contracts respectively. In Gage county, where the most abundant small grain crop in years was harvested, only one claim was filed and in Lancaster with more than 2,700 contracts, only four. Much the same situation existed in the western Nebraska counties where generally wheat fields produced an average crop.

Which leads to the conclusion that in areas where drouth is more prevalent, and where the need for insurance against wheat loss is greater, unfortunately the farmer neglected to take advantage of the insurance program. Those farmers in Hall and Hamilton, Merrick and York, who had insurance are happy, not as happy as they would have been had climatic conditions been favorable to a bumper harvest, but nevertheless they are not faced with a complete loss, and it means something to the entire state to have the production augmented by insurance on six million bushels of grain destroyed by drouth. Those contracts paid the grower up to a maximum of 70 percent of average production on the basis of the price of wheat on the day the claim was filed.

THIS farm program has been under fire. The farmer has been told it regiments his activities. His participation in it is voluntary. He can take part in it or he can stay out of it but this much is certain. Without a farm program in recent years the existence of what has been virtually a state wide drouth season after season—a drouth which in varying degrees persists in this section of the state—would have ended in disaster had it not been for a farm program.

The insurance phase of it, like the corn loans a few years back is one of its most commendable phases. There was a gratifying increase in the number of wheat growers who signed contracts in 1940 over the number signed in 1939. The hope persists that the moisture deficiency to some extent will be repaired by abundant precipitation throughout the fall and winter in this area where it has been so dry but the settlement of 3,315 loss claims in these four central Nebraska counties is one of the compensating factors in a struggle which has tested the fortitude and courage of the farmer. At a minimum it will mean 3½ millions of dollars for farm families which would have suffered a complete loss in drouth had it not been for their foresight in signing insurance contracts.

AND there is this additional observation. Good farming practice is a basic part of the farm program. In virtually all sections of Nebraska the soil has been cropped and cropped continuously for a period of from thirty to fifty years. It needs rebuilding.

Here in this area where in the early years lagoons and ponds and small lakes of blue water were common to the countryside one of the greatest boons would be their restoration. Now that they are gone they are more highly prized. But in south central Nebraska, and in central Nebraska with its productive soil the greatest need is water conservation, practiced rigorously in season and out.

A Word For The Cottonwoods

A CONTEMPORARY observes that the cottonwood is pre-eminently Nebraska's tree. It recalls that one of its beloved staff members used to say that the cottonwoods talked to him. Maybe they did, and the only regret is that he didn't divulge what they said.

But no foolin' the cottonwood has its points. This state would have been a much more desolate state had it not been for this rapid growing tree which the pioneer planted by the thousands in groves and wind breaks around those early Nebraska homes.

Now comes a box maker, the contemporary says, to declare there's a market for 20 million feet of cottonwood lumber a year. At the present time in addition to all of the local supply, he insists a thousand carloads of cottonwood are shipped in annually from the south. If Nebraska farmers would plant cottonwoods more extensively they could have all the benefits of soil protection and shelter from the growing trees and a money crop besides, he says. The cottonwood matures in fifteen years.

The Nebraska farmer has done a swell job of planting trees. It is true he has shifted to other varieties—to the Chinese elm and to other decorative species, slower growing, but reputedly better adapted to Nebraska climate and Nebraska soil in the long range of tree longevity. The important thing is to plant trees and to keep on planting trees.

Why Must They Die

(First of a series of four editorials on traffic safety.)

THERE were 32,600 persons who died in traffic accidents last year. The outlook for 1940 is just as tragic. Yet underlining this whole situation is the shocking truth that these deaths are needless deaths. Traffic accidents — even minor ones — can be prevented. This prevention is one of America's great jobs today.

There are four major factors present in traffic safety. First, and most important, is the human element—the driver or pedestrian. Second, there is the vehicle itself. Third is the street or highway and fourth is the physical environment which includes the weather and the time of day. All four of these factors are subject to degrees of control which are so thoroughly adequate as to make traffic accidents needless.

Thanks to automotive engineering, modern highway construction and scientific research we know where the danger spots lie. The shocking thing is that while the path to driving safety is plainly marked many fail to heed the signs. That is why thousands die and thousands of others are maimed in traffic each year.

Our problem is to think this thing through and see how this great economic waste can be prevented. The development of the automobile is one of the really great contributions which the twentieth century has made to civilization. But what so many forget is that this carries with it a stewardship of safety. The penalty of such forgetfulness is measured in the bitter crucible of blood and tears.

Back To The Plow

A CURIOUS aftermath of the defeat of France occurred in Kansas City the other day. There some 350 Missouri mules and horses headed back to the plow instead of to the war zone.

The mules and horses were being auctioned off for the French purchasing commission which had previously bought the animals for wartime use. In the auction the horses and mules brought only 50 cents for every dollar the French had spent to procure them. Major DeRochefort of the purchasing commission would only say, "I do not know," when asked about what would happen to the money received from sale of the animals. One Missouri farmer who purchased two mules said, "I'm going to put them right to work in corn shucking."

In any event the example is one of countless thousands which illustrates how the tides of Europe's war swirl and eddy across the world, even into the Missouri valley. Complete isolation is a delusion in the complex world of today.

Why Not Name Them?

THERE was just the shadow of a laugh in Hugh Butler's Weeping Water appearance, where he spoke recently at the dedication of the Cass county agricultural hall. In delivering an address at that WPA project dedication Mr. Butler spread the salve on thickly,

"This hall," he said without so much as a stammer, "is an example of useful and constructive WPA work. It benefits the community as well as furnishing employment for citizens."

Hear! Hear!

Brave words and well spoken. One can almost hear Mr. Butler as he journeys around the state in his campaign for the United States senate as the republican nominee saying to one community after another: "This is a useful, worthwhile WPA project. One wonders why he doesn't name specifically the projects and the places with which they are identified which are not "worthwhile." That would be almost too much to expect of any man out on the hustlings going after votes but after all the outcry it would not seem to be unreasonable to expect these republican candidates to point an accusing finger at a long list of WPA projects which are wasteful and worthless. This newspaper will be glad to print their list.

The Passing Show

AT LAST we've found the world's greatest optimist. He's that young American with the British flying forces who reported the war is "great fun."

We wonder what's become of Tom Dewey?

Hitler has definitely deGermanized Germany. They're now drinking non-alcoholic beer.

For the sake of that American insurance company which advertises itself "strong as Gibraltar," we hope the rock stays put.

Let's hope the army won't be able to put draft measures into effect until after the Pittsburgh game next fall.

Economists say that the economic condition of European possessions in this hemisphere is such that no true imperialist power would want them. Remember way back when people were figuring out why Hitler wouldn't do what he did do in the last few months?

MANY PHYSICALLY UNFIT FOR SERVICE WITH ARMED FORCES

If we are faced with another nationwide conscription for military service we will get once more, as we did in 1917, a cross section diagram of the incidence of physical defects in our young male population. Many people can carry out activities in civil life with no evident disability from defects that for one reason or another will unfit them for military service.

In 1917 one out of every three candidates was rejected for some physical defect. This would mean that if 10,000,000 men are called in the draft, 3,000,000 will be found sufficiently inadequate to be rejected.

The "Musts."

Height and weight—This category is really not a physical defect and in times of extreme emergency could be relaxed. But the army likes to have its ranks look uniform and those over six feet, six inches in height or under five feet, four inches, are turned down. (We might get up special tall and short regiments. I have a notion the little guys would put up a pretty good scrap.) Weight between 115 and 180 is standard. Seventy-three thousand men were rejected in 1917 on account of underweight.

Flatfoot—This is an obviously unsurmountable defect for a soldier. Nearly a third of all rejections will be from this cause. Bunions equally bad.

Hernia—In the last war, soldiers could be ordered to have hernias repaired. This saved a good many men for service, but even so a hundred thousand men were disqualified for htis reason in World war 1.

Teeth Weapons.

Bad teeth—You have to have twelve good teeth. Army food is good, but you must be able to chew it. No special diets are arranged. Army dentists, however, do a grand job in fixing up cavities and other defects. Many a man returned from the low countries with the first good mouthful of teeth he ever had.

Heart defects—Heart murmurs are causes of rejection and often apparently unjustly so. I had many appeals in the last recruiting season from men who had heart murmurs, and patriotically resented their rejections. The army medical department knows perfectly well that most of these men would be able to perform even arduous duty without difficulty but they far-sightedly look ahead to the problem of disability claims. The soldier entitled to pension on that ground must have received the disability in the line of duty. A pulse rate persistently over 100 is cause for rejection. We had a great deal of trouble with this class last war, and they should never be accepted again.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Rabbit's Surprise Party

Who early learns t use his eyes
Will have full many a surprise.
—Peter Rabbit.

It is queer how many people go through life without seeing things. Sometimes I think it is that way with most folks. Right under their very noses interesting things are constantly happening, yet are not seen. So folks miss much that would add to the joy of living and enrich their lives.

Of course people see mostly those things in which they are especially interested. Many feathered folk depend largly on insects and worms for food, so their keen eyes always are on watch for them. Naturally they know a lot about them. Peter Rabbit doesn't eat worms and insects. Of course not. So he does not go looking for them. When he does notice them it is usually through chance that they are called to his attention. But plants, well, Peter does know a lot about plants. That's because those are what he eats and so is especially interested in. He knows which ones are best eating. He knows which ones are not good to eat.

Peter sat under a tree at the edge of the Green Forest. He was tryingg to make up his mind to scamper across the Green Meadows home to the dear Old Brier-patch Peter always has a hard time making up his mind to do that. He happened to glance down near the foot of the tree. Something was moving there. A queer head was slowly pushed out of the ground. It was followed by a rather thick brown body. Peter couldn't remmeber ever having seen an insect just like this before. Where it had come from the ground was a neat round hole.

Peter stared very hard. "It isn't a beetle," said he. "It isn't—well, it isn't like anything I ever saw before. I wonder why it didn't stay in the ground. I wonder where it is going."

He didn't have to wonder long. No, sir, he didn't have to wonder long. This strange brown creature headed straight toward the trunk of the tree. It moved very slowly, but it had only a few inches to go for it had come out of the ground very close to the tree.

Then it began to climb the tree. It moved so slowly that Peter quite lost patience. It had reached a height just a little above Peter's head when glancing aside Peter made another discovery; another of those queer brown creatures was coming out of the ground. It looked exactly like the first one and it moved exactly like the first one. And like the first one it headed straight for that tree. When the tree was reached the slow climb began.

Peter was too impatient to watch this. He looked back at the hole in the ground and in so doing discovered another of these strange underground folk crawling out of another hole. Then Peter began to be truly excited.

"Now what do you know about that!" he exclaimed. Looking over to a neighboring tree he saw two or three of these queer brown folk on its trunk. Something tickled one of his long hind feet. He lifted his foot to see what was under it and there was one of those queer insect folk trying to crawl out of the ground right where Peter's foot had been. In his surprise Peter almost tumbled over. He moved hastily. Then Peter began to run about. He found a lot of holes all about under the trees. He saw a lot of the queer insect folk on the trunks of the trees. And he saw a lot more come out of the ground. There was no guessing where one would appear next. Peter was in the midst of a regular surprise party and no mistake. And it was all very mysterious.

Peter sat under a tree at the edge of the Green Forest

The next story: Peter Has a Queer Feeling."

Business Manager For Mae West Is Sued By Wallace

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12—(AP)—Mae West and the an she admits she married in Milwaukee 29 years ago are at sharp odds these days.

On Saturday the one-time Milwaukee bridegroom, vaudeville dancer Frank Wallace, filed a damage suit for $105,000 against Miss West's business manager, James Timony, charging that Timony "assumed the relationship of a common-law husband" of Miss West and prevented Wallace from communicating with her.

Timony promptly termed the action "ridiculous." Later Miss West issued this statement:

"Wallace is evidently a persistent suit-er. The next thing I know he'll be suing me for breach of promise. As far as Jim Timony is concerned, suing him is silly as he has been my business manager and nothing else."

Three years ago, Wallace obtained a court ruling that he and Miss West had been married and that she had never dissolved the marriage.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

UNDER ANY PLAN.

No easy path; no care-free day,
No down-hill road to wealth or fame;
No goal, whatever scoffers say
For indolence or sham to claim;
'Neath any rule or any plan
Patience and pluck will mark the man.

Skill to the end of time will be
The proof of merit, soon or late.
Honor, and faith and industry
Will be the badge of all the great.
No change of law or scheme or rule
Will help the dullard or the fool.

Hard is the way for all the wise.
Heavy the yoke the brave must bear.
All, who to power or fame would rise
Must give themselves to tedious care.
Nothing the world will hold or ban
Will dignify the lazy man.

Youth of today of words beware.
Test every glowing promise well.
Trust rather the fatigue of care
Than anything self-seekers tell.
Be not deceived. By every test
He best succeeds who labors best."

Calling All Dogs

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

A DOG TAX IDEA

M. W. of Toledo enclosed in a letter to me a clipping from the Toledo Blade. The clipping tells of the collecting in Lucas County, O. of $11,762.61 in dog-and-kennel licenses last year. Of this sum, $4,701.06 was turned over to the Toledo Humane Society for the operating expenses of the dog pound, while the other $7,061.55 went into the "county general fund." M. W. writes me:

"If a person here does not have a license for his dog ($1 for a male, $3 for a female; $10 for a kennel license) he is violating the law, to the tune of $25 and costs. It may be said there has to be money paid for livestock killed by dogs. On the other hand, many farmers, everywhere, have no licenses for their dogs. (Of course the dogcatchers are more active in the city.)

"I believe twice as many license tags are sold in the city as in the country. So it looks to me as if the city chap is paying for much of the damage done by country dogs; the dogs whose owners get repaid for killed livestock. Thus, I believe the license tax for city dogs should be no more than onehalf as much as the country tax."

What do you city or country readers say to this suggestion?

Appropriate billions, but don't levy enough taxes to pay ordinary peace-time expenses. This is election year.

The country is getting so excited, no Fifth Columnist can feel safe any more, unless he's in the Labor Department.

Only chronic complainers can tell you how to keep healthy. People who have health don't think about it.

Aren't people easy to fool! They know defense will cost billions, yet placidly endure waste and extravagance because pay day is postponed.

Roosevelt won't get off so easy this time. Willkie intends to wisecrack down on him.

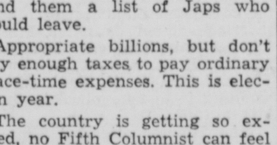

A magazine writer ridicules the idea that social problems can be solved by "mere good will." Might as well say mere love can't make people be kind.

Be thankful for the lower class—if any. How could you be upper class without the other for comparison?

You may start feeling sorry for Willkie, if he wins. The financial show-down must come in the next four years, and he'll get all the blame.

Could the dictators invade us? Well, have you forgotten the subs that played along our Atlantic coast in 1918, sinking 100 ships and escaping unhit?

Imagination is the quality that keeps you awake, listening to a whining noise that isn't there, because you happened to think about mosquitoes.

The final proof of good manners is to be sweet at breakfast after taking an unmerciful licking at bridge last night.

This weather reminds us of an old horse trader who once said in all seriousness: "If hell's as hot as they say it is, there would be no use in sending me there. I just couldn't stand it."

Add pet peeves: Taking time to answer a stranger's letter and having it returned because he didn't give you the right address.

At last we know why people quit believing in hell. If anything is too horrible to contemplate, we decide it's just propaganda to scare us.

People's Forum

PATRIOTISM VS. PRECEDENT

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19, 1040.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In prominent type and space a number of erst-while would be leading democrats have been played up in the press taking a walk to Wilkie. Among them are such men once honored by the democratic party as Ed. Burke, Al Smith, James A. Reed, and Senator Clark of Missouri and a few others.

Much commotion has been made under the premise of the anti-third term sentiment, which it is claimed will lead to dictatorship. But these anti-third termers offer no opposition to life term for judges of our high courts, and long self-perpetuating terms for U. S. senators and congressmen.

It is common knowledge that Senator Burke hesitated as to whether he should file as a democrat, independent, or what.

But since the people would not be deceived by his complacent face and dual action, he has finally thrown off that thin veneer of deceit and walked over to the Willkie band wagon of public utilities, second only to that of Insull fame.

To that Jeffersonian democrat who raises his voice against a third term, let me remind him of the fact that Jefferson believed in elasticity of constitutional authority or time-honored precedence.

It was Jefferson that purchased the Louisiana territory against the advice of his cabinet.

The Louisiana purchase was a momentous and colossal undertaking at the time, but Jefferson was far-sighted enough to see that if the U. S. did not grasp the opportunity that some other nation would, or that another government might spring up west of the Mississippi river. Just what would have happened no one can say. An emergency arose that the framers of the constitution could not foresee and Jefferson acted, he secured the vast territory that now makes up a large portion of the U. S. west of the Mississippi river.

And yet we hear some critics say that Jefferson violated the constitution when the Louisiana territory was purchased.

Due to war in Europe, which in some measure affects the whole world, the U. S. is facing a situation that cannot be foreseen and it will require the best statesmanship to guide and direct the affairs of our government through a world crisis. And yet we hear the opposition to President Roosevelt "under the premise of an anti-third term school of thought," fall back on the tradition established by our early presidents. Jefferson is accepted as the founder of the democratic party, he is also quoted as one who favored not more than two terms for the president.

By the token that Jefferson held that a constitution should be flexible or elastic, and on that strength the Louisiana tract was added to the U. S. domain—by that same token Jefferson "we have a right to believe" would have held that the tradition of not more than two terms for president could well be set aside in an emergency when the safety and perpetuity of the American form of government is in danger.

Just recently Tax Commissioner Smith and myself made an inspection tour in twenty of the south central counties in the state, for the purpose of gathering first-hand information for the board of equalization to guide in deriving the tax levies for the coming year.

As the drouth burns up the crops and turns the range white, so increases the distress of the people. In our tour we contacted farmers, ranchers, businessmen, county officials—they all agreed that it was the government checks that made it possible for them to stay on the land, which business in general is slowly beginning to recognize.

The Agricultural Soil Conservation program was primarily intended to stabilize prices of farm products, in line with commercial goods. When drouth continued year after year, it also served as an insurance against a total crop failure, as well as a price stabilizer.

The drouth and extreme heat has already taken a heavy crop toll, every day that condition continues, the ravage from the element will increase.

There are millions of bushels of wheat and corn under government loans on the farms in Nebraska and adjoining states, which may be the means of rescue in distress.

Senator Burke has pledged his support to Willkie—Birds of a feather flock together—he did not fool the voters in Nebraska. Since blood is thicker than water and water finds its own level, so it is only natural that those who are corporation or utilities control minded, will cast their lot with Willkie.

The farmers, ranchers, businessmen of all kinds realize that the millions of dollars that were received through parity payments, soil conservation, commodity loans, WPA and CCC projects had much to do with keeping the people on the land and holding the decrease in population in the state to a nominal figure.

Regardless of what the anti-Roosevelt group may throw up as a smoke screen, be it third-term opposition or some other bug-bear, the people will think for themselves. Only a vicious animal will bite the hand that feeds it.

NEED OF EXPERIENCE.

Crab Orchard, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is sometimes said that variety is the spice of life. If so, this nation along with the rest of the world is in the midst of not only variety, but also with tremendous problems that call for an experienced statesman, not an opportunist. These problems are approached from every angle by groups; some good and constructive, and some futile and foolish.

Recently the republican candidate for governor of Nebraska, along with three or four other candidates, met over in Iowa to talk over farm problems with a utility magnate. That would come under the head futile.

The republican national platform says that it will put the jobless to work through private enterprise. That does not mean a single thing. Private enterprise never has and never will put a single man to work without first a market for the products they produce; therefore, markets are the first essential for expanded employment. This nation, both agricultural and industrial, is geared up to produce much more than can be consumed at home; thus foreign markets are absolutely essential, and the only way to gain foreign markets is by trade agreements.

Ever higher tariffs, an old gag that won many elections in the past, has gone with the wind.

The present administration when coming into power in March 1933, found an estimated fifteen million unemployed with their savings nearly gone and a revolution in making and under headway in parts of the agricultural sections. In seven and one half years nine million have been put back to work and it is reasonable to assume that another four years with the same kind of administration would see every abled-bodied man with gainful employment.

With four powerful nations running amuck, backed by a people who have lost their individual liberty and know nothing else except to obey orders, the free peoples of the rest of the world are confronted with a fact not a theory. The free peoples must coordinate their efforts and be able to strike blow for blow and be able to fight fifth columnists and isolationists whose fear will not allow them to prepare or help their friends in any way at one and the same time.

This is no ordinary campaign year. It will take an experienced hand at the helm of our government in every department to guide us safely through the crisis.

G. B. KOHLER.

CONSCRIPTING YOUNG MEN.

Fairfield, Idaho.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We are thinking of conscription of our boys in preparation for another war. In these times of economical stress our unemployed fine young men are having worries of their own. And they are made to feel that no matter how able they are, the are greatly unappreciated. And according to our present system where there is a money value placed upon everything where is their value anyway?

In our last war, contracts for the government were given to certain concerns, whereby they became rich. And our own sons, the most precious things we had to win the war, got a very little pittance accordingly.

Now my idea is, that since the government needs these fine patriotic sons of ours—show its appreciation by offering them something substantial besides the small amount allowed for their time in the training and eventual service. Why not, for instance, a $100 government bond for every month to put in their safety deposit box for future use?

Make them feel that Uncle Sam values their services from an economical standpoint as well as from a patriotic standpoint.

Patriotism is a wonderful thing to believe in and of course every good American citizen is blessed with it. Yet we must reconginze the fact that our people's worth have been weighed in an economical balance and so have our fine lads that are unemployed been given that same standard of thought.

Why not give them some feeling of encouragement with regard to their value. That would certainly encourage the morale of our enlisted boys and would it not help them to volunteer by numbers.

And has it not been stated that an army of volunteers do better service than those of the draft?

Yes, I should suggest an extra $100 government bond for each and every month of their time spent for the government. In other words, they will all feel that they have government jobs.

This may sound radical and revolutionary to you citizens that are too old to enlist yet I believe after due consideration you will agree with me.

And how about the mothers whose future has for years been centered in their sons?

PEACE PROPAGANDA.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As a suscriber to the "Star" for over 30 years I wish to criticize the recent headlines that have been appearing in the daily. For example—"Hitler to try U. S. invasion" (and in very tiny letters—Sen. Sheppard claims"). Very sensational news to be sure—and just the kind we need to get us into another world conflict. If sensational "claims" are to be printed why not print for example the talk by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick on Aug. 7 1940 from Boston as he endeavored to suggest subsitutions for the conscription bill. Why not put it on the front page and head it"Bill of conscription found unnecessary!" and in tiny letters—"Dr. Fosdick claims"). We would enjoy reading such headlines as, young people mobilize for peace and democracy. Let's have some peace propaganda! For the sake of your readers and for the sake of your country forget the sensational stuff—we want facts!

Future Of America's Gold Believed Safe

...Economists See Advantages In Big Holdings

Two Experts Take Pessimistic View of Its Usefulness; Several Say When Time Is Ripe U. S. Must Co-operate To Re-establish Sounder Currencies Within World

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
(Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—How rich is Uncle Sam?

He holds three-quarters of all of the world's monetary gold—traditional basis of money and symbol of wealth.

Does that make him as rich as Croesus, or, as suggested by German Economics Minister Walther Funk, as poor as the boy who had won all the marbles, and so couldn't find anyone to play with?

Economists don't agree, but most American experts see the prospect of great advantages accruing to Uncle Sam from the $20,000,000,000 in glittering yellow metal in his vaults.

Of 30 economists throughout the country, asked to contribute to a symposium as to what they considered the future of gold, 16 replied. Seven saw the future value of gold secure, seven more were inclined to agree, with important reservations, mostly suggesting it would depend upon wise management by the United States, while only two took a frankly pessimistic view of the future usefulness of gold.

As to what Uncle Sam should do to assure the advantageous use of gold, six recommended steps toward freer international trade. Two urged restoration of gold to circulation in the United States, while two opposed it.

Many Suggestions Made.

Several said when the time was ripe the United States must co-operate to re-establish sounder currencies within the world, some mentioning a world monetary conference. Two recommended establishment of a big world bank financed with American gold. Two suggested use of gold to purchase military bases. Two mentioned continued purchases of gold as an aid to Great Britain.

Those who saw the future of gold reasonably secure said in part:

Edwin W. Kemmerer, professor of international finance at Princeton, who has served as monetary adviser to several governments:

"After the present World war, as after the last one, the world will gradually return to the gold standard, because efforts at managed paper money standards will break down...."

Money Can't Be "Managed."

Ernest Minor Patterson, professor of economics, Wharton school of finance and commerce, University of Pennsylvania:

"It should be remembered that if foreign countries abandon gold they must either use some other commodity as a monetary standard, e. g., platinum, or undertake to operate their monetary systems with no commodity as a base. The Germans, through sheer necessity and with great difficulty, have been doing this for some years... As yet there is no evidence that money can be satisfactorily 'managed,' and certainly not without gold at least to give the public confidence in the monetary system."

Benjamin M. Anderson, jr., professor of economics, University of California:

"I discredit nazi propaganda regarding the future of gold. Gold's only competitor is the paper promises of governments and central banks, which were never more distrusted than they are today. Germany would eagerly take gold today if she could get it. International barter still uses money and exchange rates. Under barter agreements are set directly or indirectly with reference to gold...."

Political Enmities Secondary.

Frank A. Pearson, professor of agricultural economics, Cornell university:

"Political enmities play a secondary role in economic facts. The policies of the German government cannot change the value of gold very much."

Those seeing little future for gold were:

Willford I. King, professor of economics, New ork university:

"It is not improbable that the use of gold for bank reserves throughout the world will gradually be abandoned. If this happens, the value of gold in terms of commodities will fall sharply. We will not then be able to market our vast gold stock advantageously. However, we have it. It is paid for. It is not burden some to keep. It will always be in demand for ornamentation and the arts. At present, it is not one of our worries."

Ultimate Use Puzzle.

Those who emphasized the seriousness of the gold problem, but saw possibilities of advantageous solutions, included:

W. E. Grimes, head of department of economics and sociology, Kansas State college:

"The ultimate use of gold of the United States is problematical. It is doubtful if gold ever again will occupy the position it once held in the monetary systems of the world. However, it could be made quite useful for the purpose of settling international balances x x x. Before it can play such a role, the gold must be redistributed among the nations of the world x x x."

Marcus Nadler, professor of banking and finance, New York university:

"Gold in all probability will continue to be used for settling marginal international balances. World wide use of gold as a basis for currency and credit is doubtful. The best use of gold is for purchases abroad of commodities needed in the United States."

F. Cyril James, principal and vice chancellor, McGill university:

"If at the end of the war, the United States co-operate whole-heartedly with other democratic powers for effective reconstruction of world economy, the hoarding of gold at Fort Knox, (Ky.) will turn out to have been a major contribution to the future prosperity of the United States and of the world. If such co-operation and wisdom are not forthcoming the outlook is very uncertain as to both the value of gold and its monetary usefulness."

G. W. Forster, head of the department of agricultural economics, North Carolina State college of agriculture:

"x x x Unless some policy is worked out which will permit an increase in free international trade, our gold supply will become purely ornamental."

Highlander Plat Draws Protests

... Hearing Likely

Protests against the platting of a large tract in the vicinity of Twenty-seventh and Van Dorn streets, to be known as Highlander addition, have been filed with the city council, and it was believed at noon would form the basis of a hearing during the afternoon along with two other conferences. One of these will be a hearing on the condemnation of buildings at 228-36 North Tenth street. Residents of Bethany also will attend the meeting for a hearing on suggested betterments at Bethany park.

There are two petitions asking that the plat of Highlander addition be not accepted, as provided in an ordinance up for third reading. A third protest has been filed by Mrs B. Avery, 2905 South Twenty-seventh street.

Heading a petition of eight is the name of J. S. Farrell, and another of nine names is signed first by Mrs. W. M. Fenton, 2911 South Twenty-ninth street. All of the objections are substantially the same.

The petition headed by Mr. Farrell sets out that the addition as proposed will be a detriment to the community because it "invites building small inexpensive dwellings in the immediate proximity of large and expensive homes." It is understood, the petition adds, that 25 feet is to be taken from the ends of many lots to create and pave a new street, which, it is alleged, will be a "detriment and a damage." It is poor planning and imposes an unjust burden and hardship upon the signers."

Mae E. Avery states in her complaint that the ordinance accepting the plan provides for no restrictions. The owner of the property has stated that property in that part of the city will be protected, she declares, asserting that "any restrictions that are to be set up should be made a matter of public record and included in the ordinance."

Carl Dickinson May Be In Jail

... AT SAPULPA, OKLA.

SAPULPA, Okla., Aug. 12—(AP)—Sheriff Lew Wilder said Monday he still was questioning two men in connection with a gun fight in which a woman was slain and two men wounded at Oilton, Okla.

The two men were arrested Sunday night. Wilder said he believed they gave assumed names and he was trying to check whether either of the men might be Carl Dickinson, 24, who fled a Nebraska prison farm with Joe Lovelace, 24.

Lovelace and Bill Hall, 25, Oklahoma prison fugitive, were captured soon after Jeanne Coffey, 30, widow of a former convict, was killed.

Oilton Police Chief Ben Clark and Hall were wounded in the gun duel. Hall's condition remained serious.

Highway Department Has Wide Powers In Design Of Structures

The state highway department is not bound by law to alter its constructions on the basis of petitions submitted to it from citizens of the state, Attorney General Walter Johnson ruled Monday.

An opinion, written by Assistant C. A. Beck, said such questions as capacity and design of structures are for the department to decide "in accordance with sound engineering practices."

A ruling was requested after a petition from Papillion urged the department to increase the size of a bridge on highway 31 so a drainage district could move its drag line across it.

"The petition," Beck wrote, "must of necessity be considered only advisory."

60-Day Season On Waterfowl

... Longer Shooting Hours

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Secretary Ickes announced today that the hunting season for ducks, geese, coots and jack-snipe had been extended to 60 days this year from the 45-day limit of last season. For Nebraska the dates will be October 16 to Dec. 14.

Announcing the annual regulations for shooting migratory waterfowl, the secretary said that the extension was made possible by an increase in the population of these birds.

The regulations also lengthened the hunting day. Shooting may start at sunrise and continue until 4 p. m. for waterfowl and coot. Last year the hours were 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. Jacksnipe may be hunted from sunrise to sunset.

The bag limit on ducks remains at 10 a day.

Shorter seasons were provided, however, for woodcocks, and the bag limit on geese was reduced from 4 to 3 a day.

Hunters may use bows and arrows or shotguns not larger than ten gauge. The three-shell limit on repeating guns is continued. Use of bait or live decoys also is forbidden.

All persons over 16 years old hunting migratory waterfowl are required to have federal migratory hunting stamps.

Lytle Pleased.

William Lytle, deputy state conservation officer, said the new 60-day season should prove very satisfactory."

"Extension of the season to Dec. 14," he added, "should increase the flight of birds and bring them down before the season ends."

Lengthening of the hunting day, also should be more satisfactory, Lytle said.

The hours along the Platte river, from Garden county east, however, will be from sunrise to noon. They were from 7 a. m. to noon last season.

Several game preserves along the river will be closed to all shooting, the officer asserted, including the new area established in Dodge and Saunders counties.

... In Drive For Industry

Former Nebraska PWA Director Will Spend Six Months In Washington

OMAHA, Aug. 12 — (AP) — John Latenser Jr., Omaha engineer and architect and former Nebraska director for the PWA will go to Washington within a few days as a representative of the Omaha chamber of commerce to work with various national defense agencies and to present to them opportunities for development of such industries in Omaha and Nebraska.

President W. C. Fraser said Latenser will stay in Washington five or six months, or until the national defense situation has "jelled" to the extent that new industries have been allocated.

Funds for Latenser's assignment are being raised by the chamber national defense committee.

Omaha Firm Given Preference By City

... To Unify Stop Signals

Contracts for resurfacing two districts and paving a third were awarded to the Abel Construction Co. Monday by the city council. At the same time the General Electric Co., Omaha was given the contract to furnish the police department two automatic traffic signals and control boxes for installation at Twenty-fifth and O streets. The offer of the successful bidder was $547.40, the same as that of Korsmeyer Co., of Lincoln, and $2.70 higher than the low offer.

Cobe S. Venner, director of public safety said the General Electric bid was accepted since it is hoped to in the near future connect all of the lights in the congested district and along east O street, including Twenty-seventh and O, with the central control system. By purchasing the General Electric equipment all of the controls will be of the same make.

Plan More Lights.

Influencing the decision also, is the fact that Venner expects to recommend soon that automatic lights be placed along O street, at Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets. Just when this will be done has not been decided.

The contracts awarded to the Abel company follow: Paving Tenth street, sumner to Plum, $8,264.55, only 12½ feet on each side being assessed against the abuting property; resurface Tenth from O to N, $3,620.20; and resurface Tenth from G to J, $3,900.60.

The council ordered bids called on the city's supply of electric lamps for the year beginning September 2, and for liquid chlorine to be delivered at Ashland. The estimated cost of the latter was $7,500. The cost of the lamps was estimated at $5,000.

Bids also were ordered called on six new filing cases for the treasury departments, to cost $900 plus cases now in use. The new equipment will be used for the thousands of real estate leger sheets used by the finance department for tax records. "They are very valuable records," Director Theo H. Berg declared, "so we plan to keep them in fire proof cases."

BEET GROWERS MAY SUPPORT WILLKIE

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—Charles Franklin, president of the Nebraska Beet Growers association, said Monday he "would not be surprised" if local groups of growers went on record soon in support of Wendell Willkie for the presidency.

Franklin was one of eight association officers who interviewed the republican candidate at Colorado Springs.

"Willkie made us no promises but we believe he will do his level best to help us solve our problem," Franklin said.

"All we want is a square deal."

3 Ordinances Up Before Council

... New Meat Fees Set

Three new ordinances were up for reading by the city council Monday. One sets up the annual appropriation for 1940-41, and another simplifies the handling of milk permits. The third amends the meat inspection fees, and paves the way to settlement of an action started in late 1939 by the Lincoln Packing Co., through a court decree fixing the fees and at the same time awarding the city a judgment for fees unpaid since the suit was commenced.

In its action the packing company contended the fees were too high at 25 per head on cattle. This was later reduced to 15 cents.

The ordinance introduced today fixes the cost at 15 cents on all animals. Cattle, except calves however are rated as two units, but the rate applies only to the first 18,666 units after which there is no fee until after 60,000 units per year have been slaughtered.

On this basis there actually is a reduction in cost to the packer, yet the income will be sufficient to pay the total cost of killing in the packing house. The fees after adoption of the amendment will be $2,800 annually for cattle and $200 for other animals, Deputy City Attorney Fred Wagener declared.

Both Sides Agree

In the court decree the fee will be established as "reasonable," by stipulation, both parties having agreed to the new prices.

Retroactive, the decree will provide for payment of the city of the fees due, on the new basis, amounting in all to $1,680.16, including $233.33 for the present month.

Figures supplied by the packing company show that the number of units killed annually will approximate 43,000.

The milk ordinance will provide that beginning with the effective date of the measure, all permits will be issued at the health department, Tenth and Q streets, instead of at the city hall. This not only simplifies the operation for the city but for the applicants for permits as well.

New Appropriation.

When approved by the council a week hence the annual appropriation ordinance will set up $807,851 in new taxes, which is 90 per cent of the amount levied. Of this 90 per cent $666,382.75 will be for general operating expenses, or only a few dollars under the limit of $667,082 that can be levied under the charter provision fixing the total for operating expenses at 7.75 mills on the property valuation as returned by the county assessor.

In the $666,382.75 is $36,000 to be earmarked for airport expansion. It was this amount that increased the mill levy to 9.12 instead of the 8.75 mills. However, if anticipated governmental help is not forthcoming, the money will not be used.

Including the new tax money to be raised, and the balances estimated department and miscellaneous receipts of the tax supported departments, the total of all these departments to be appropriated on the 90 per cent basis is $1,196,000.

Disbarment Urged For I. C. Bachelor

... By Bar Referee

The Nebraska Supreme court Monday received a recommendation from Leon L. Hines, Benkelman attorney and referee, that I. C. Bachelor, elderly McCook lawyer, be disbarred for unprofessional conduct.

Hines made his findings on the basis of a hearing conducted last Jan. 9 and 10 after the Nebraska State Bar association listed nine counts against Bachelor, alleging they constituted reason for disbarment. Hines said six of the counts were sustained but three should be dismissed.

Arson Knowledge Claimed.

Among other things, the association declared Bachelor had advised one of his clients, Jake Degele, Red Willow county farmer, to burn down a dwelling on a farm, collect insurance and pay off a mortgage indebtedness. Degele, who served a 2-year term for arson, refuted a statement credited to him by the association regarding advice from Bachelor.

"It is my conclusion," Hines said in his report to the court, "that the respondent (Bachelor) had some knowledge the crime of arson would be or had been committed by his client (Degele), and that his efforts to aid his client to take advantage of his crime and secure a settlement with the mortgage holder and the insurer amounted to a most serious infraction of the rules of professional conduct involving moral turpitude."

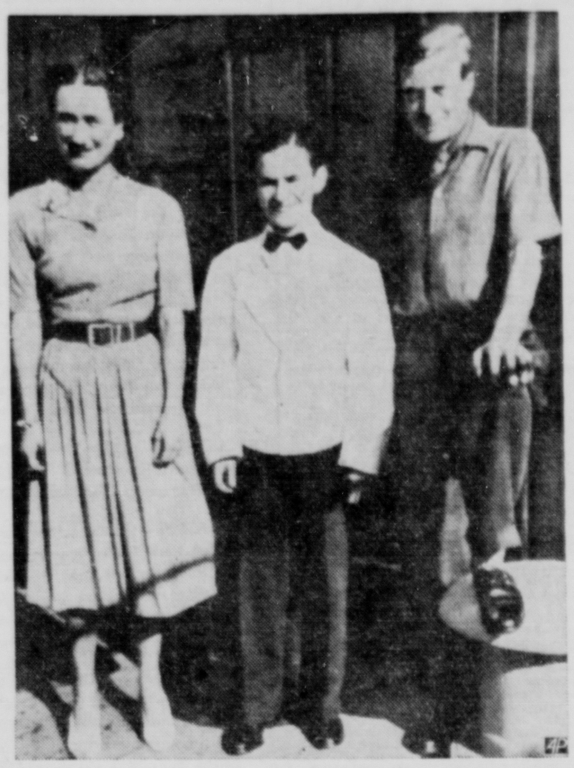

Record Gasoline Tax Collection Is Distributed

State Treasurer John Havekost distributed July's record gasoline tax collections Monday, disbursing a total of $396,237 to counties for use on roads compared with $216,174 last month.

Lancaster county's share of the total was $30,884 compared with $24,644 sent out last month.

In all, Havekost distributed a total of $1,373,332 in July gas tax collections: $396,237 to counties; $264,158 to state assistance; $648,248 to state roads, and $28,690 refunded to dealers. The June distribution grand total was $1,101,031 and for July, 1939, it was $1,096,129.

Wolf Has Visit With Gen. Pershing

A visit with General John J. Pershing at his Washington hotel was a highlight of the trip which Jean A. Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wolf of Lincoln, made to the national capitol last week.

Wolf, retiring national commander of Pershing Rifles, an organization named in honor of the World war general, went to Washington after presiding over the annual conventon at State College, Pa. There are now 30 chapters.

"He is really a great old gentleman," Wolf wrote his parents. "He said 'I am for conscription wholeheartedly, but then I always have been for military training, if only to teach discipline."

FIVE FINED AFTER 7 LINCOLN RAIDS

... Others Deny Charges

State liquor agents and Lincoln police raided seven places in Lincoln early Sunday morning, arresting 17 persons and confiscating some 300 quarts of home brew, a small quantity of whiskey, and five cases of beer.

Municipal court was a busy place Monday, as a result of the raids. Several of those arraigned did not understand English, and Mexican interpretation had to be used.

Court action was as follows:

IREY MINCER, 240 West J street, charged with selling liquor without a license, in three counts, fined $50 and costs on each.

BENJAMIN ROGERS, 244 West J, charged with being an inmate of a disorderly house, fined $5 and costs.

VINCENT DELGADO, 505 West First, charged with selling liquor without a license, two counts, fined $50 and costs on each.

JOHN MORELEZ, 932 P street, charged with being an inmate of a disorderly house, fined $5 and costs.

STORK BEATS REAPER ON FARMS, BUT SMALL POPULATION INCREASE

Down on the farm, the "stork" continues to keep busier than the "grim reaper."

In the last 15 years, for example, over 6 million more people were born on farms than passed away.

But we don't have 6 million more people on farms now than we did 15 years ago. We have over a million more but not 6 million more.

So what became of the 5 million? Well, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, the 5 million went to town. Each year, there's a two-way movement of town and country people — farm people move to the cities and city people move to the farms. And, in the last 15 years, the cities got 5 million more people from the farms than the farms got from the cities.

In only one of the 15 years did the farms get more people in this exchange than the cities did. That was in 1932, at the bottom of the depression. That year, a great many people moved from the city to find refuge on the farm.

Funeral Tuesday For Miss Bertha Enyeart

Funeral services for Miss Bertha Enyeart, former Lincoln teacher who died in Boulder, Colo., Friday, will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Castle, Roper & Matthews. Interment will be in Wyuka cemetery.

A native of Missouri, Miss Enyeart came to Nebraska with her parents in 1882 and moved to Lincoln in 1898. She was engaged in teaching 45 years and taught in the Lincoln primary grades for many years. She served as principal of the Tecumseh high school for some time. Miss Enyeart was a member of chapter NN P. E. O., for several years.

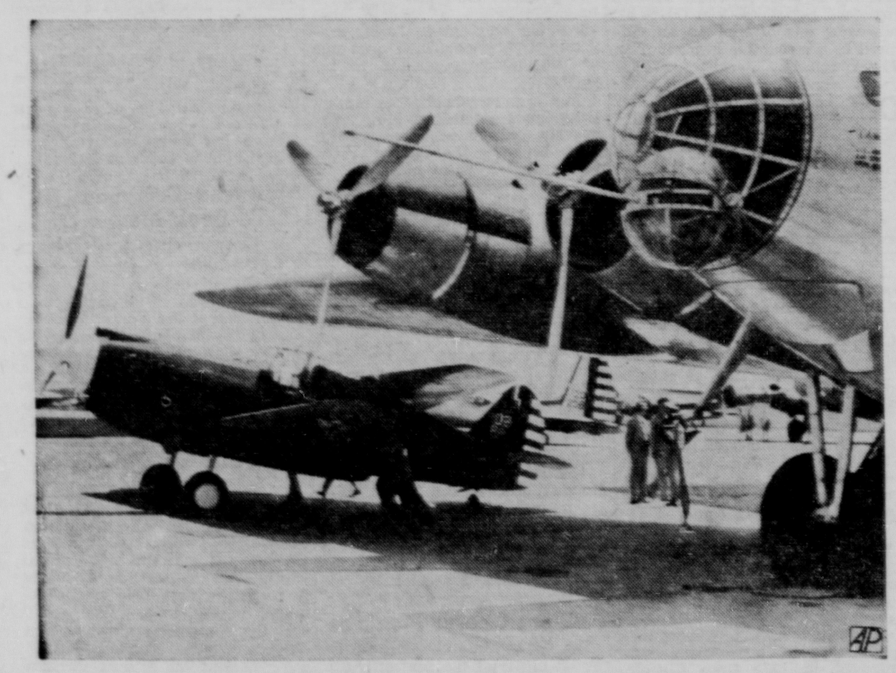

Townsend Says McNary And Martin Favor His Old Age Pension Plan

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 12—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old-age pension advocate, says Senator McNary of Oregon, the republican vice presidential nominee, and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, GOP national chairman, have assured him they "favor" his program.

The elderly Californian, speaking yesterday at a picnic of district No. 11, United Mine Workers of America (CIO), said he would urge his followers to vote for the party which would work for his pension plan. He said previously that he would vote for Wendell L. Willkie, the republican presidential nominee.

Dr. Townsend told the miners that "we must arm ourselves for defense" but added he believed "there is no sense at this time to force men into training for war through conscription."

CONGRESS TO QUIT OCT. 15, LEADERS HOPE

. . . Much Work Ahead

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(INS)—Congressional leaders set back their adjournment goal another 30 days today, to Oct. 15, and sought to win over the republicans and some democrats who insist congress should remain in session throughout the European crisis.

This date is regarded by the more pessimistic as wishful thinking. In the three weeks since congress reconvened after the political conventions, only one major measure has been acted on by both houses, and a long list of highly controversial "must bills" await action.

The legislative box score:

The bill giving the Tennessee Valley Authority another $25,000,000 for power for national defense manufacturing has passed both houses.

Two bills have passed the house and still await senate action—a $4,900,000,000 appropriation to complete defense financing, and a measure to permit American ships to enter war zones to evacuate refugee children.

The senate has passed the bill permitting the president to call up the national guard for one year's training and house action is awaited this week.

The following measures await action in by both houses:

The compulsory military training bill, which the senate is expected to debate two weeks or more.

The excess profits tax program, which is still before the house committee.

A bill to increase resources of the export-import bank by $500,000,000, which faces bitter republican attack.

A composite bill to lift immigration restrictions and permit the entry into this country of children from the war-occupied countries of Europe.

Rosanoff Refuses Give Up Deanship Of Duquesne Uni.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12—(AP)—Dr. Martin Andre Rosanoff, internationally known chemist, refused today to give up the deanship of Duquesne university's graduate school despite what he termed his summary dismissal.

He promised a searching investigation by authoritative bodies into factors surrounding his removal, declaring it would cover not only his case "but many other recent occurrences in the university of which only a few have become known to the public."

The university announced that Dr. Rosanoff had withdrawn from the faculty after declining the post of director of chemical research when his deanship was abolished.

He is the sixth member of the university faculty to leave publicly since Father Raymond Kirk became president last February.

Good Rains In State; Boom Crop Outlook down through Cheney, Bennet and eastward to Nebraska City.

Corn "Come Back."

In that section, corn which many feared was virtually "gone" a month ago, has made a fairly good come-back. Ears are set and the stalks stand firm and green.

With fall plowing already underway in the southeast, the rain may keep the farmers out of the fields for a few days but the moisture was more than welcome.

In Norfolk Area.

Around Norfolk good rains fell Monday morning, measuring .41 there by midmorning following .05 Sunday. South and east of Norfolk the rain was heavier.

15 Escapes Made In Recent Months; Only 2 Still Free

The short-lived escape of Donald Blake, 19, from the reformatory Sunday morning added one more case to the list of several made from state institutions since June 1.

In all, there have been 15 escapes from state penal institutions and two fugitives are still at large. Besides these, there have been six others from state insane hospitals with two still not located.

The penal escapes by institutions:

Reformatory—Tony Armell, 18, and William Hensley, 17, Indians serving 5 years each for car theft, escaped July 16, both returned voluntarily within a week; Harry Tavis, 22, two years beraking and entering and jail break, escaped July 29, returned from Sidney, Aug. 9; Donald Blake escaped Aug. 11, returned same day.

Genoa—Joseph Lovelace, 25, and Carl Dickenson, each serving 5 years escaped from the Genoa prison farm July 27. Lovelace was captured at Oilton, Okla. Aug. 9, where he is still held as the result of a robbery and shooting. Dickenson is at large.

"Before the Showdown"

filled the hearts of Nazi airmen with fear. If huge-scale German air raids continue Tuesday it would seem as if the long-heralded "battle for Britain" is definitely under way.

* * *

IL DUCE IS BUSY—Official quarters in Rome were busy handing out announcements to the press Monday. Italy claimed its forces in British Somaliland have reached the main motor road to Berbera and have contacted the main British troops there. Control of the Gulf of Aden, southern gate-way to the Suez canal, may hang in the balance. Meanwhile, things were stirring in tiny Albania and it looked as though the Italian Fascists may be heading for a crisis with Greece. Italian newspapers accused Greek authorities of ordering the assassination of an Albanian minority leader and hinted darkly that Greece's independent hours may be numbered. Meanwhile a British disclosure that Italian aviators have been among enemy airmen captured after "bailing out" during air raids on Britain indicates that Italian and German air forces have effected at least a partial merger.

TRANSPORT LOST—The British admiralty admitted today that the transport, Mohamed Al El Kebir, had been sunk in the north Atlantic by a Nazi sub with a loss of 120 lives.

SPAIN NEXT—Quoting the Moscow radio, a London newspaper said today that Spain is preparing to enter the war soon at the side of the axis and that Spanish ships have been ordered to enter Spanish or neutral ports. Last week Italian newspapers hinted that a new power might soon enter the war on their side.

* * *

FAR EAST—In Tokyo a huge mass meeting branded Britain the "arch enemy of the development of east Asia." An unofficial report said that French Indo-China is ready to grant Japan naval and military rights and that Indo-Chinese railroads may be used by the Japanese military for a "back-door" assault on China. From Shanghai came unconfirmed word that the U. S. Asiatic fleet is leaving for Manila and that important developments may be expected.

Blitzkrieg Zero Hour Seems Close at Hand

in Rome said "serious consequences" would follow the reported beheading of an Albanian minority leader by Greek border raiders.

Italians were described as "enormously irritated."

Factories Attacked.

Fascists also accused Greece of supplying British warships and planes with oil from Greek bases.

In the new raids over Britain today, nazi warplanes attacked airplane factories, ports and oil depots, the German high command reported.

In London, a spokesman indicated in the absence of official comment that Britain would be averse to a proposal of former President Herbert Hoover that the United States supply food to Holland, Belgium, Poland and Norway.

The spokesman said that Britain would vigorously maintain its blockade against Germany and nazi-occupied European states, and that food for 18,000,000 non-Germans in the occupied territories depended on "fair distribution by Germany, which has an abundance of supplies."

German Claims.

The Germans said they destroyed 89 British planes Sunday, practically smashed the Portland base, sank nearly all the ships in Portland harbor, and sank three and damaged four ships in a convoy. Only 17 German planes were lost, the nazi command said, in this most successful raid on England, while the British fell out of the sky "like shot birds."

The British, unofficially tallying 69 German plane losses, laid official claim to 60—same number they reported the nazis suffered in Thursday's oig fight over Dover—and said 26 British planes were missing.

Two British warships were damaged by bomb splinters, the British said, and some naval buildings were hit in Sunday's Portland attacks but they failed to acknowledge hits on military objectives.

Despite the stern nazi assaults, a German wireless announcer cautioned they were "not to be interpreted as the start of a German attack on Great Britain." He said they were just "preparation."

Britain, for her part, told of far-reaching raids on Germany and German-occupied Holland and northern France. The wharves of Hamburg, the Wilhelmshaven naval base and factories in many parts of Germany were bombed Saturday, the British said, as were airdromes in Holland and France.

At sea, Britain announced a troop transport, the Mohamed Ali El-Kebir, had been torpedoed in the Atlantic with 120 lives lost.

Details were withheld and it could not be ascertained if the arrival of a small Canadian detachment in England had any connection with the transport.

War in Africa, overshadowed for all its desert sun and hardships by the intense combat over Britain, continued briskly between British and Italians.

Italy made deeper thrusts into British Somaliland and the Kenya colony. She announced the occupation of Kardin and Godajere passes and the bombing of Aden on the Red sea.

The British scoffed at Italy's chances of making significant gains. British Somaliland forces were being reinforced.

Hurricane In Dixie Kills 12 Persons

The storm blew itself out today over this area, accompanied by heavy rains.

600 Given Refuge.

Fort Moultrie gave refuge to some 600 civilians from Sullivan's island, near Charleston.

A considerable section of Charleston was under water four to six feet deep.

The whole section of the coast from Norfolk, Va., to Jacksonville, Fla., felt the force of the hurricane, but chief damage seemed to be to communication systems.

Numerous small towns of inland Georgia and South Carolina were cut off early today.

Winds reached a velocity of 68 miles an hour and some gusts went well over 70 at Savannah.

30,000 Homeless in Louisiana.

LAFAYETTE, La., Aug. 12—(AP)—Weary relief workers and state police guarded today against pestilence and looting in the wake of a flood over southwest Louisiana's "rice bowl" which left an estimated 30,000 persons marooned or homeless.

Crop damages were expected to reach millions of dollars, and relief officials said about 75,000 head of cattle and horses and thousands of other livestock had been lost or were in danger of starvation.

Most critical area was that embracing the cities of Crowley and Gueydan in the low, inundated flatlands southwest of here.

Crowley Ordered Evacuated.

State police ordered Crowley evacuated, although many residents today still clung to the upper stories of their flooded homes. Railroad flat cars and boats brought approximately 3,500 refugees here from Crowley, 20 miles away.

Coast guard cutters, flatboats and skiffs took hundreds of refugees, chiefly from Gueydan, into Lake Charles.

Germany's Raiders Strike In Swarms

vented all but 55 from reaching their goal.

The Germans flew over in waves at high altitude from the direction of Cherbourg and divebombed as they approached the town. One raider was shot down in the sea and five others were destroyed almost as soon as they crossed the coastline. A warship shot down another raider.

The British said private property was damaged, but no naval objectives were harmed.

The raiders turned their machine guns on citizens in the streets, the British reported, but the number of casualties was not known.

In another engagement along the coast, R. A. F. fighters reported they shot down two German planes attacking shipping, and drove off 23 raiders from a coastal town.

By early afternoon, at least 14—possibly 16—German planes had been reported shot down, with the Raiders still roaring in along the coast in apparently growing numbers.

Buildings Set Afire.

(German losses were only six planes against Britain's 23 during the first phase of today's air battle over Portsmouth and other southern English areas, the German radio reported.)

The 55 planes which reached their objectives remained 15 minutes, dropping incendiary bombs which set fire to some buildings.

A number of shop windows were blown out and it was understood there were a few casualties.

An early afternoon attack on another southeast town wa sthe heaviest so far there.

Two nazi waves—one of 21 bombers and the other of 15, protected by fighters—wheeled out of the sun from the cover of clouds.

"I saw about 20 Junkers 88s roaring down," one eye-witness said.

"Five of them were destroyed.

"Anti-aircraft guns put up a terrific fire and one bomber had its tail shot off. It dived straight behind some houses.

"About 12 Germans bailed out of this and other planes."

All 12 nazi fliers who leaped from their falling planes were said to have been quickly captured by police and townspeople.

At first, the raids were a repetition of the fierce German assaults yesterday on the channel coast, but they spread as far as northeast England and the air ministry said "later reports show that large scale activity is taking place over a wide area in the channel and Thmes estuary."

It said there had been a few casualties, only one of them fatal.

'Democrats For Willkie' Organization Is Formed

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Formation of a national "democrats for Willkie" organization, headed by two former members of the Roosevelt administration and one of the country's youngest university presidents, was announced today.

The new organization, said Alan Valentine, 39-year-old president of Rochester university, and executive director of the group, will seek members and support only from democrats.

In addition to Valentine, a national committee of four to direct its activities included John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt; Lewis W. Douglas, early new deal budget director, and Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., former president of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Italian Forces Contact British At Berbera Port

Empire Army Digs In For Stand; Fresh Troops Arrive By Sea

ROME, Aug. 12—(AP)—Italian troops advancing in British Somaliland have established contact with the main British forces defending the capital and chief port of Berbera, the high command announced today.

It was presumed the three Italian columns which previously had occupied the port of Zeila, the towns of Hargeisa and Adueina and the Karrin and Godajere passes finally had engaged in battle with troops holding the main British position.

Italians reported they had destroyed 15 British planes in attacks on airdromes in the Anglo-Egyptian sudan.

Halted, British Say.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 12—(AP)—The Italian drive across British Somaliland toward the Gulf of Aden and the vital port of Berbera, came to a halt today, the British command reported tonight.

A communique said "in Somaliland no operations are reported and the enemy made no advance."

It was indicated that the Italian columns driving northward from Hargeiso and Oadweina across burning wastes and under harassing air attacks had stopped, perhaps to reorganize for attack on the main British forces in the hills south of Berbera.

These were reported reinforced by units newly come from far flung parts of the British empire.

Arrival of the reinforcements was disclosed by British officials in denying Italian claims that Somaliland virtually had been cut off from overseas help.

Convoys laden with troops and munitions are steaming regularly through the Red sea, the British said, unchallenged by Italian naval forces.

Reich Airplane Fields And Oil Plants Bombed

LONDON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Royal Air Force attacks on air fields and oil plants in France and Germany were reported tonight by the air ministry.

It acknowledged that three British bombers were lost in the operations.

The airport on the German-occupied island of Guernsey in the English channel off the French coast was bombed again yesterday, the air ministry communique said.

German aerial attacks on the big naval base at Portsmouth in which "large forces were employed" as well as on the isle of Wight and the English channel coast were acknowledged officially tonight.

The communique acknowledged that several fatal casualties were caused and that bombs were dropped on several Royal Air Force airdromes, causing what was described as "slight damage."

"The enemy bombing attacks which began over the Kent coast this morning," a communique said, "were later extended to the Isle of Wight this morning and Portsmouth, where large forces were employed.

"An attack on his majesty's dockyard met with little success

"Some bombs were dropped on the outskirts of the dockyard area, setting fire to a store and causing minor damage to a jetty. Two small harbor service craft were damaged and subsequently sank.

"In other parts of Portsmouth a railway station was hit and a number of buildings, including a brewery, set afire. Casualties were caused, including some deaths, but these were not numerous having regard to the large number of bombs dropped.

"In the Isle of Wight, a church and some houses were damaged and a few people were injured.

Court Is Asked To Reverse Conviction Of Arnold Strasheim

Max Kier, attorney for Arnold Strasheim, former Lincoln tavern keeper who has appealed from a five-year sentence growing out of a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of John Shea, told the Supreme court in written arguments Monday that the attorney general's office is basing its plea for sustaining the judgment on technical grounds.

"We are reluctantly forced to the conclusion," Kier wrote, "that the zeal of advocacy has blinded counsel for the state to fundamental propositions of law applicable to this cause, and to the fact that the defendant (Strasheim) has been deprived of his fundamental constitutional rights."

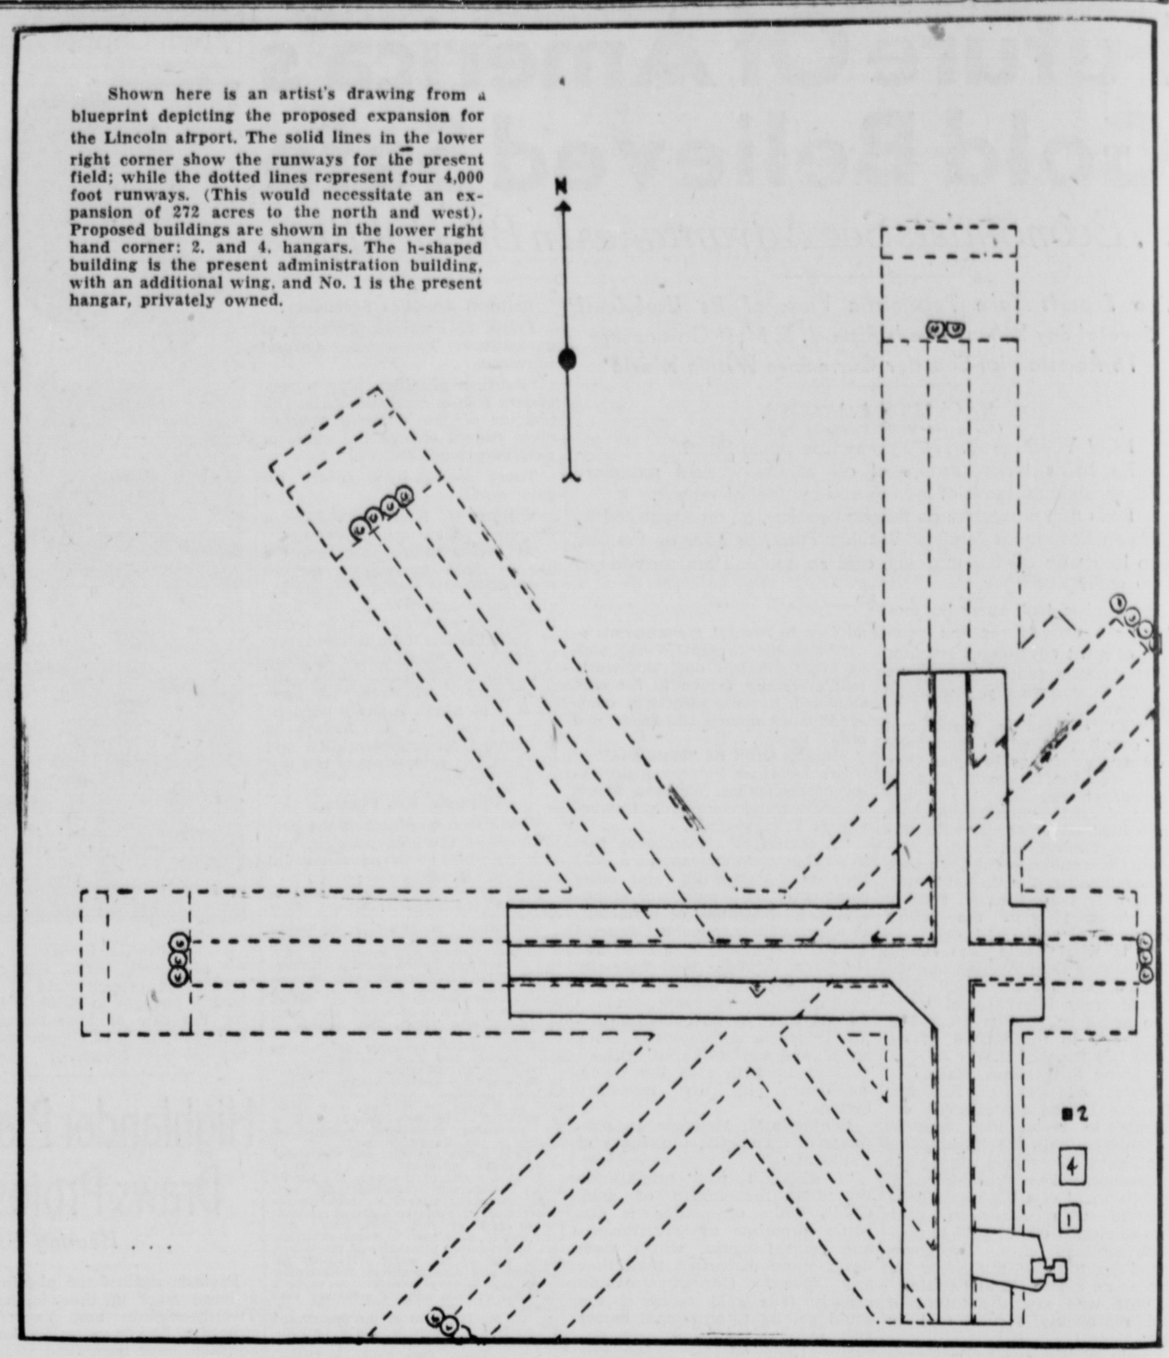

Kier objected particularly to an incident at the time of the trial when the judge called the jury from deliberation and admonished it to reach a verdict if possible. Neither Kier nor Strasheim was present.

Frank Oram Fined $75 On Liquor Charge

Frank Oram, 630 South Eleventh, was found guilty in Municipal court of selling liquor without a license, and was fined $75 and costs.

Attorney Mike McLaughlin filed notice of appeal, and appeal bond of $200 was posted.

Testifying that they witnessed Oram selling two pints of liquor at 3725 Huntington were state liquor commission agents Walter Dann, Claude Fruide, and Agent Landgraf of North Platte.

Shown here is an artist's drawing from a blueprint depicting the proposed expansion for the Lincoln airport. The solid lines in the lower right corner show the runways for the present field; while the dotted lines represent four 4,000 foot runways. (This would necessitate an expansion of 272 acres to the north and west). Proposed buildings are shown in the lower right hand corner: 2, and 4, hangars. The h-shaped building is the present administration building, with an additional wing, and No. 1 is the present hangar, privately owned.

Norris Attacks Draft; Fears A Dictatorship

ocean and attack us," the Nebraskan said.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) broke in to say taht "this scheme (conscription) has nothing whatever to do with the so-called emergency but is an old scheme for permanently grafting this system onto the United States."

Clark Is Aroused.

"The whole caboodle of them have been advocating this scheme of compulsory military service since before the World war,' 'Clark shouted. The army, he said, naturally was for it because "it will make colonels out of captains and generals out of majors" because of the proposed increase in the armed forces.

Burke replied that if Clark wanted to trace the history of conscription proposals he could go back much farther than the World war. George Washington, he said, made a conscription proposal in 1783 that "outlined, and in great detail, all of the principal things contained in the bill."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) interrupted to say that if George Washington "couldn't put it across during that time, it was because the people wouldn't stand for it." Which, he said, was all the more reason for believeng that the public didn't want it now.

Secretary of War Stimson, Wheeler continued, said once that Germany could land something over 300,000 troops on American soil in a short time.

Wheeler Raps Stimson.

"Any man who made that kind of a speech," Wheeler said, "isn't fit to be secretary of war, and his judgment should not be accepted b. the senate."

Norris' voice was raised in opposition to the Burke-Wadsworth military training bill as administration leaders sought to push the measure to a final vote late this week. The bill would require the registration for possible active military training of all men from 21 through 30 years old.

"Compulsory military training in time of peace, as I see it, cannot long prevail in a democratic for mof government without leading that government into the realm of dictatorship," Norris began, opening the second day of debate on the bill.

Fears Future Effect on U. S.

The Nebraskan, who voted against America nentry into the World war, said that he was not unmindful of changing world conditions—that upheavals in world affairs had led him to "modify views I have held during all my mature life." Norris supported revision of the neutrality act after the outbreak of the present European war.

"I think the great objection to this legislation," Norris continued, "is the effect that it is going to have on the history of our country in the years to come."

Observing that conscription would be a "radical" departure from American tradition, the veteran senator said:

"That change, if it takes place, is going to lead us inevitable into the realm where we will have what we have been complaining about in other nations—dictatorship. I can see no other result.

On Parallel With Dictators.

"If we are to have compulsory military training in time of peace, we put ourselves on a parallel wit hthe dictator nations of the world."

Norris pictured a changed atmosphere into which future Americans would be born—an atmosphere, he said, where "the most important thing in their lives will be service in a conscripted army, to devote most of their lives to learning to murder and to slay—even if it is called war."

At the other end of the capitol, the house military committee delayed action on the senate bill authorizing the president to call into active service the national guard and army reserves in order to study debt-moratorium provisions submitted by the war department to run till June 30, 1942.

Features Of Plan.

Principal features of the department's moratorium plan:

1. No evictions "or distress" from premises renting for not more than $80 monthly.

2 Suspension of premium payments on regular life insurance policies up to a $5000 face value.

3. Suspension of general or special taxes and assessments on real property devoted to housing, agricultural or business purposes.

Annual registration of all men from 21 through 44, to provide an index of the industrial as well as military manpower of the nation, was proposed by Senator Barkley (D-Ky) to supplement conscription.

"We ought to have information on the number of men who are available for noncombatant activities, as well as those who might be called for military service," the democratic floor leader told reporters.

Incorporation of Barkley's suggestion into the pending Burke-Wadsworth bill would entail some changes in the contemplated conscription plan, it was pointed out by Senator Sheppard (D-Tex), floor manager of the measure.

The bill calls for a single registration to compile the list of men eligible for active training, although the program would remain in effect five years. Any additional registration, Sheppard said, would require new action by congress.

Under the bill as approved by the military committee, only men from 21 through 30 would have to register. Senator Burke (D-Neb), however, has offered an amendment to increase the bracket from 21 through 44.

Defense Letters Bring Responses

. . . From Other Parties

A letter sent out last week by Secretary of State Harry R. Swanson, asking real estate men to submit information concerning possible sites for defense industrial activity had brought in five replies Monday morning, but all of them came from persons other than real estate dealers.

Swanson said the responses, suggesting various properties ranging from vacant buildings to a ranch, came from these towns: Clay Center, Superior, Hooper, O'Neill and Norfolk. The ranch owner suggested maybe the government would like to buy his place for a training camp.

Baker At Prison Dies — Floyd Sherwood, 30, inmate of the state penitentiary, died early Monday morning at the institution following an appendectomy. He had been ill since Aug. 1. Sherwood, chief baker at the prison, was sentenced in 1935 from Lincoln county to 12 years for assault with intent to rob. The charge grew out of an attempted robbery of a grocery store in North Platte.

Crown Princess Of Norway Enroute To U.S. With Children

. . . At Roosevelt Invitation

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 12—(AP)—Crown Princess Martha of Norway and her three children are enroute to the United States aboard an American ship at the invitation of President Roosevelt, the Norwegian legation here announced today.

The legation said they boarded the ship at Petsamo, in far northern Norway.

(The American troop transport American Legion arrived at Petasom Aug. 5 under orders of President Roosevelt to bring out Americans in Scandinavia. Presumably the American Legion already has started the return trip home.)

Crown Princess Martha, daughter of Swedisl. Prince Charles, is a sister of the late Queen Astrid of Belgium.

Accompanying her to the United States are Princess Ragnhild, 10; Astrid, 7; and Harald, 3.

Capt. Palmer McGrew Recruiting Officer For Omaha District

OMAHA, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Captain Palmer McGrew, reserve officer who is on active duty for a year, assumed his duties here Monday as recruiting officer for the Omaha district. Captain McGrew formerly was with the United Air Lines here, more recently practiced law at Lincoln.

LIONS V. LIONS

WEEPING WATER, Neb., Aug. 12—(INS)—Members of a Weeping Water luncheon club today sought less realism at their weekly gatherings.

The Lions club was holding a luncheon when a strange, disagreeable odor made eating impossible. The chairman sent one of the members outside to investigate.

In a cage on wheels, four mangy lions, part of a traveling menagerie, carried on a battle with flies beneath the dining room windows.

Close Count

MARYSVILLE, Kas., Aug. 12—Charles A. Anderson, Marysville, and Clyde Wells, Irving, Kas., lacked one vote of being tied for the republican nomination for sheriff of Marshall county at the primaries held here last week, and it will take the mail vote to decide the winner. Anderson's vote was 1,191, and that of Wells, 1,192.

Beer Suspension

The state liquor commission Monday ordered the beer license of Reuben Nuss, Sutton, suspended for 10 days following a hearing where Nuss appeared to answer complaints of after-hour sales and alleged spiking.

Grieg Chorus Picnic

The Grieg Male chorus held its annual picnic at the Lincoln Auto park Sunday with games and contests being the main feature. In charge of the outing were F. T. Anderson and Swan Pearson.

Borglum Seeks Funds To Finish Memorial

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Gutzon Borglum, creator of the Mount Rushmore memorial in South Dakota's Black Hills, said today he was going to Washington to seek assurance that congress won't forget the final appropriation for his project, in the press of national defense spending.

Borglum disclosed that work had begun on the last phase of the memorial project — carving a hall of records, 100 feet long, 80 feet wide and 34 feet high, from the solid granite of Mount Rushmore.

The huge heads of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln are complete, he said, with work on the head of Theodore Roosevelt to be finished by mid-winter.

Anti-British March Prevented In Tokyo

Resolutions Adopted Asking Withdrawal Of England From Far East

TOKYO, Aug. 12—(AP)—Police prevented a march on the British embassy today after 3,000 persons held an anti-British mass meeting beneath German, Italian and Japanese flags.

The meeting, sponsored by the municipal council, adopted resolutions demanding withdrawal of the British from the Far East and favoring strengthening of Japanese relations with the Rome-Berlin axis.

Gamblers' Church . . .

Sin paid dividends in the 1850's but the city fathers of Jacksonville, Ore., saw to it that the profits went to a worthy cause. Strange as it seems, one night's receipts from Jacksonville's gambling houses were used to build a church in 1854—the first Protestant church west of the Rocky mountains.

Roosevelt's Son Gives Willkie A Good Luck Wish

Nominee Would Prosecute All Who Bought or Sold Ads In Demo Book

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Wendell L. Willkie says one of his first acts, if he is elected president, will be to prosecute all persons who bought or sold advertising in the democratic national committee's 1940 campaign book.

The republican nominee told a press conference late yesterday that such advertising purchases were not only in violation of the Hatch anti-politics law but also overstepped the corrupt practices act.

In New York, Oliver A. Quayle, jr., treasurer of the democratic national committee, said last night he was "not at all perturbed" over Willkie's warning, and added, "his observations are covered by the premise: 'If I am elected, I will do so and so.' I don't think he stands a chance."

Willkie's warning that "all violations" of the Hatch or corrupt practices acts "will be relentlessly prosecuted," came shortly before a joint press conference with former President Herbert Hoover and a wish of "good luck" from Elliott Roosevelt, the president's son.

Invites Roosevelt to Call.

During the press conference Willkie was advised that Mr. Roosevelt's son was in his hotel, and he picked up a telephone.

The nominee promptly received an acceptance to his invitation that the president's son come up for a nonpolitical visit and the two men and their wives chatted for half an hour.

As the younger Roosevelt left, Willkie expressed the hope that he would have a pleasant vacation on his projected trout-fishing jaunt to Wyoming.

"Thanks, I wish you good luck" Elliott responded.

Democrat to Visit Willkie.

Another democrat to see Willkie was John Jones, brother of federal loan administrator Jesse Jones. John Jones, a resident of Houston, Tex., said he would like to talk with the republican nominee today.

Elliott Roosevelt, who came by automobile to Willkie's resort hotel here just three minutes ahead of Hoover, said it was "pure coincidence" that he and Hoover had adjoining suites in the hotel.

Although the two were temporarily assigned to adjoining rooms, Hoover shortly moved to the floor above. His son, Alan, accompanied him.

Record Beet Crop Prediction Made

. . . By Field Manager

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Aug. 12 —(AP)—J. E. Jarrell, field manager for the Great Western Sugar Beet Co., predicted today the Ovid-North Platte district will produce a record beet crop if favorable weather conditions continue.

The 17,000 planted acres are the largest in the company's history. He forecast yields as large or larger than last year's.

Pump irrigation to supplement ditch water has been a factor in the crop's favorable development, he said, although a water shortage has damaged the crop somewhat in the Sutherland and Sarben areas.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof. J. D. Flint

During a kidnapping epidemic a few years ago a wealthy lawyer was held for ransom in an old barn, far from any town. The only accessible exit from his loft cell was a narrow window which the lawyer could crawl through because he was very small, but it was about thirty feet above the ground. In moving about the room the lawyer discovered a heavy rope coiled in one corner. He threw the rope out the window after tying one end but discovered that it was short of the ground by fifteen feet. He was timid about dropping that far so he pulled back the rope and gave the matter much thought. Finally he hit upon a solution. He halved the rope, tied the two pieces together and found that he could slide down and reach the ground without a drop. How did he do it?

Answer To Saturday's Twizzler.

Brokaw Partially Approves Butler's New 'Drouth Plan'

OMAHA, Aug. 12—(AP)—A new kind of "drouth loan" was advocated Monday by Hugh Butler, republican senatorial nominee, and it gained the partial approval of W. H. Brokaw, university agricultural extension director.

Returning from a 10-day campaign trip in the state, Butler suggested the government loan 10 or 15 bushels of its stored corn to drouth stricken farmers and landlords for every acre of corn land farmed this season. The loan could be repaid with a like amount of corn "sometime during the next three to five years when they have a crop."

Butler said his survey in central Nebraska had convinced him "that the state and federal government will have to come to the rescue of many families—and that right soon."

Many farmers already have sold out and moved away, he added.

Brokaw said the plan, sought by farmers for some time, has the advantage of providing corn for those needing it most. He suggested, however, farmers be loaned enough to feed subsistence livestock, and not be allowed to borrow for sale in the open market or to take advantage of price changes.

Entries for livestock, poultry, agricultural products, etc., are coming in daily, and Bozarth believes the 1940 fair will be one of the best in the history of the association, provided weather conditions are good.

SMA Will Buy 50 Cars Spuds

. . . In Loup Valleys

GIBBON, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—Hans C. Hess, directing potato purchases for the surplus marketing administration, announced here today SMA will buy 50 cars in the Middle and North Loup valleys this week under the same plan and at the same prices prevailing in the Platte valley last week.

Growers here were paid 80-85 cents a hundredweight.

Hess met Loup growers at Sargent Saturday and Committees were named to work with the SMA office here. Shipping points will be Burwell, Ord, Comstock, Arcadia, and Loup City.

Hess also announced 100 cars will be purchased in the Platte valley this week to complete the buying program for Nebraska.

Only 205 of the scheduled 300 cars were purchased by SMA last week as growers were able to sell the balance of the 480 cars shipped from the area to commercial buyers at prices equal to or higher than those offered by SMA.

The buying program was started at the request of growers after prices allegedly sank below production cost levels and digging almost ceased in this region.

Trucks Used In Attack

New Umpire Control Plan Needed to Slow Down Truman's Offensive

EN ROUTE TO BATTLE WITH THE 35TH DIVISION, Camp Ripley, Minn., Aug. 12—(AP)—Major General R. E. Truman pulled an initial surprise Monday on his 35th division and on the "enemy" in the fourth army maneuvers.

Expected, due to his many conditioning and hardening marches of the past week, was a foot soldier attack all the way. Instead, at 4 a. m. Monday, three full combat teams which each included a regiment of artillery, infantry, engineers and attendant signal corp, and a military police, were loaded in 375 trucks, cleaned from every possible source and rammed down the road at 45 miles per hour toward the main objective—capture of bridges at Little Falls and Fort Ripley.

Surprises Umpire.

General Truman tried the idea Saturday in a practice haul and it worked so well, it was surprising to the umpire, who had figured on him waging a slower war.

Because of the rapidity of man power transmission discovered in the 35th division, new umpire control plans had to be devised to slow him down.

Nebraska's part in today's maneuver was split. The 134th infantry was held back for a rear guard, maintaining contact with the main "blue" army of which the 35th is an advanced element, and keeping a "red" pincher from slicing to the rear and isolating the unit. The 110th medical and 110th quartermaster trucks were all used in hauling the combat teams.

The "war" which started yesterday, set a great cavalcade of about 20,000 troops into action from the 35th division area heading to a patch of land called Camp Ripley in the northwest corner of the maneuver reservation, to seize the iron fields of northern Minnesota, and insure ore transport out of Duluth.

Three Sandwiches.

The 35th division is attacking a "red" state, so the order reads, of which the capital is Omaha.

During the 6-day battling, each soldier will be issued three sandwiches each morning (ham, cheese, and jam) and 10 rounds of amunition (if he's an infantry man.) When contact is made with the enemy, the blanks will be exploded to give the umpires some idea of fire power. Ten rounds doesn't sound like much, but in the six days, some 1,200,000 rounds will have blasted over the Minnesota countryside.

Inadequacy of equipment is no hindrance to the training program, except that it forces the use of imagination on the part of troops. Planes serve dual purposes, as observation units for one side, and as enemy bomber' to the side they're flying for as well as the opposition. Trucks make up for the tank shortage by having signs painted on their sides labelling them "tanks."

Notes On Activities Of Nebraska Guards

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn., Aug. 12—(AP)—Fourth army maneuvers reached the climax of battle entry with "declaration of war" at noon Sunday, but national guardsmen of Nebraska and elsewhere have their minds on the congressional action pertaining to the guard mobilization bill.

It's mostly a "where do we go from here" and "I don't care" attitude, but many of the men are seriously concerned with debts, loan payments, jobs, and dependents.

In a survey of the 2,174 men and officers of the Nebraska national guard, a total of 272 men have indicated for one reason or another they will withdraw from the guard under exemptive provisions of the bill. Of these, 181 are from the 134th infantry, which is 1,311 of the guard's total strength. The 110th medical regiment will give up 47, and the 110th quartermaster has 44 who expressed intention of returning to civil life.

North Platte Lad Places Fifth In Soap Box Classic

AKRON, O., Aug. 12—(AP)—Nebraska's entries didn't win the seventh All-American soap box derby here yesterday, but they gave a good account of themselves and John Porter of North Platte finished fifth in the finals.

Thomas Fisher of Detroit won the derby in record time of 26.68 seconds, entitling him to a college scholarship.

Porter got a gold trophy and a bronze medal for finishing fifth.

Nebraska's other entrant, Ted Matzke, Scottsbluff champion, escaped injury in the race's only crackup. After crossing the finish line the winner of his second heat over Frank Edmond Keefe, Jr., of Tucson, Ariz., Matzke's car sideswiped Keefe's machine and overturned.

The race was delayed 15 minutes for repairs and Matzke went into the third round, only to bow to George Smith of Akron, who was third in the finals.

IOWA STUDENT DIES IN CRASH

State highway patrolmen said the car in which Hall was riding crashed into a bridge railing. They said J. E. Dodson of Parsons, Kas., told them the Hall car passed his and a small trailer behind it hit the Dodson car, sending it careening off the bridge into a creek 10 feet below where it landed on its top.

Injured passengers in the two cars were brought to a hospital here for treatment.

Riding with Hall were his sister, Traverse, believed the only person badly hurt, and Jane, Francis and Mike Fite of Muskogee, Okla. With Dobson were his wife and five children from 2 to 12 years old.

Many Public Improvements Are Being Made At Sidney

. . . Climaxing 7-Year Campaign

SIDNEY, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—By the end of 1940 a series of public improvements in and near Sidney will be completed, climaxing a seven-year campaign of Mayor R. E. Roche and the chamber of commerce to keep this community apace of the rapidly changing scale of municipal life.

Under way in the city now are two projects sponsored by the city and participated in by WPA that will complete the curbing, guttering and hard surfacing of all downtown streets and will replace the present graveled alleys with concrete.

Three and a half blocks of oil matting will be laid on "side streets" in the downtown area, connecting with concrete paving which was placed on the main streets several years ago. Five blocks of paved alleys in the business section will, when completed, eliminate a dirt and rubbish problem which has plagued this city for several years.

Pool Approved

Approved but not started is a swimming pool, which will add a modern, sanitary $25,000 pool to the city park's expanding list of recreational attractions. WPA also will participate in this program as soon as plans are approved and bids called.

The park system already has been materially improved by the construction of a shelter house and a band shell, both of which were built of natural stone that was salvaged from a fire-razed school house. Other park developments, such as drives, flood control walls and auxiliary shelter houses also have been built with this native stone.

Extensive improvements also have gone into the two cemeteries where landscaping and long-range lot planning have begun to show their effects.

The highway improvement program in this section is rapidly drawing to completion with oiling of Highway No. 19 from Sidney to the Colorado state line. A privately-financed project also will provide for oiling a two-mile strip of feeder road which runs south from Sidney and connects with No. 19 as a city route. The finish of this work—tentatively set for about Aug. 20, will complete the hard surfacing of both main highways serving Sidney.

Wise Men of Glove Game Favor Pastor To Dispose of Conn

Bettors On Broadway Drive At Odds On Steel City Boy.

By LAWTON CARVER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(INS)—Two of the sweetest boxers but least effective punchers currently in the pugilistic business, Billy Conn, light-heavyweight champion, and Bob Pastor today awaited that moment when they will be sent against each other Tuesday night in strange circumstances. One of them will be eliminated temporarily from heavyweight contendership in this fight and the other will suffer a similar setback against Joe Louis next month, if all goes according to the scenarios. Up to now everything has.

It's Even Money Now.

For instance, as expected, Conn was a nine to five favorite when he opened his training camp a few weeks ago in the hills adjacent to Ferndale, N. Y., with all that money from his native Pittsburgh riding on him. But now the price has been shaved to seven to five and the word was out today that the ringside quotation undoubtedly will be six to five and take your pick, or a simple even money.

This would give a truer line on the men and the situation than any such one-sided odds as they have been quoting against Pastor as he toiled here through heat waves and all in Stillman's west side gymnasium. The youngish and smallish but veteran heavyweight campaigner has looked great in his work, and we know at least a half dozen thoroughly reliable denizens of the cauliflower patches who will tell you that Pastor can't miss winning this one. He has the heart and the speed to match Conn in these important departments, but he also has something else—a discomforting right hand punch to the body.

Pastor Plots Body Attack.

And, while nobody likes to be hit in the body, Conn is notorious for his antipathy to any such harassment. His ribs will receive a knuckling this time, and how he stands up under it all probably will answer how the fight will go.

But getting away from all that technical stuff—and looking at this encounter through the eyes of the two principals and their respective keepers—none of them is in the slightest concerned about tomorrow night's festivities and all are thinking only of next month's engagement with Louis for a far more lucrative payday and the slim chance of winning the heavyweight title.

It can safely be predicted that unless the winner of this scheduled 15-rounder wins decisively, there will be no Louis match later, and the result of this situation figures to be a rousing battle between two of the most agile big fellows currently in the business. They will be fighting for more than a victory. That shot at Louis is in the background.

HOLDS FAST TO TENNIS CROWN

Bobby Riggs Turns Back Racquet Challenge By Don McNeill.

By BILL WHITE.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—Don't let Bobby Riggs' ridiculous duck waddle and his boyish manners disarm you. They hide one of the shrewdest brains in tennis.

Ask Don McNeill, the national clay courts champion, who was almost ready to feel sorry for the supposedly-slipping national champion before they took to the courts final yesterday.

Steadiness Did It.

For Don was the gallery idol, the man who was to deliver tennis from a champion who hasn't exactly been overwhelmed with popularity. But Don was victimized by "Ruby Robert," 6-2, 3-6, 7-5 6-4, simply because the little guy is able to visualize every opponent's weakness and fully able to rise to whatever occasion presents itself.

BOBBY RIGGS.

For a slugger like McNeill, the Riggs brain has figured out the answer—steadiness. He covered worlds of court, returning shot after shot until Don's durability wore out. Bobby gambles recklessly on occasion—and he never chokes up when a match point is staring him in the face.

Monarch of Field.

Tennis Titans thought they saw the end of the Riggs reign when Frank Kovacs almost beat him at Seabright and then did it at Southampton. But as the tennis tourists headed today for the Newport and Manchester tournaments, they had to admit that there isn't anyone on the horizon who can wrest Bobby's crown away from him at the nationals in Forest Hills—unless the unpredictable Riggs decides to toss it away.

ALICE MARBLE.

And Bobby likes the limelight too much to do that. He's staying shy of Newport—just to sharpen up his offensive for the big show.

Sweet Alice Invincible.

Spectacular as Bobby was in the finals, he wasn't in it with America's other champion, blonde Alice Marble. With the loss of but one set, the queen marched through the field and crushed what may be the last serious bid of Helen Jacobs, four-time national champion, in the process.

The 6-1, 6-0, rout of Miss Jacobs impressed the swanky gallery with the fact that there isn't anyone on the horizon even able to extend Miss Marble.

Reds' Flag Race Lead Slashed to 5 Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(INS)—For a while it looked as if the Cincinnati Reds were going to run away with the National league pennant race, but today there was every indication that the teams were readying themselves for one of their famous "dog-eat-dog" finishes.

Since the tragic death of Willard Hershberger, Cincinnati's second-string catcher, the league-leaders have slipped below their normal game and, as a result, have had some of their big lead sliced away. Yesterday the Reds were humbled twice by the St. Louis Cardinals, who proved they can play ball when they feel in the proper mood. As a result of the double defeat, the Reds' margin over Brooklyn was slashed to five games.

Rule Book Is Out For Six-Man Game

THE Spalding official guide and rules book for six-man football, season of 1940, is just off the press and, in scanning a copy, I note that only a few changes have been made in the statutes in effect a year ago. The most important follow:

STEVE EPLER.

1 — Clipping re-defined to include a direct block from the side or front striking an opponent below the knee.

2 — Changes in equipment: Soft-crown helmets made official and one-half inch of padding required on shoulder and hip pads . . . All players must wear ankle straps . . . Teams allowed to use 11-man football shoes if agreed upon at time game is scheduled . . . Composition and moulded balls approved.

3 — Time-outs reduced from three to two minutes.

4—Three-minute warmup immediately preceding game and before start of second half required.

5—Linemen required to line up within two feet (formerly one foot) of the line of scrimmage.

According to the 1940 guide, the game conceived by Steve Epler, former Nebraskan, has made amazing gains in American high school circles.

In 1935, the year following its introduction at Hebron, this state, by Mr. Epler, it was played by one in every 120 high schools, in 1936 by one in every 35 and in 1939 by one in every ten.

More specifically, 141 high schools played the six-man game in 1935, whereas in 1939 the total was 1,763, which suggests that Steve Epler came up with a sports idea that has proved itself as being definitely worth while to the high schools of the U. S. A.

Jones Junior Headed For West Point

PRESUMABLY, Lincoln high school will step out this September with its customary quota of three hundred candidates for the gridiron sport, but one of last year's freshmen will be missing from the roster. I refer to Lawrence McC Jones, Jr., good-natured, also serious-minded son of Major the "Biff," head man of football and other athletic endeavors at the University of Nebraska.

The younger Jones, who aspires to pursue a military career—which means he must eventually qualify for an appointment to West Point—has been ticketed by his dad to dig into the books at Taft school, a preparatory institution at Watertown, Conn., where the courses are reputed to be somewhat on the stiff side.

Seems to me that the major chose wisely in sending the boy elsewhere for his schooling. If Lawrence, Jr., were to eventually try for the varsity at Nebraska, the major might find himself on the spot—that of favoring his son or of bending backward by denying him a fair chance.

Meantime, if that West Point appointment plan works out in accordance with the hopes of the Jones tribe, those of us who follow football may be glomming a familiar name in a future varsity lineup presented by the institution on the west bank of the Hudson river. Familiar because "Biff," in his day as a cadet, played the game in the Army forward wall.

Umpire Joe Gaughan Is Speaking

UMPIRE Joe Gaughan of Lincoln, who was paired with Umpire Cordes, also of the capital city, comes forward with a statement which seems to refute the criticisms hurled at the arbiters as a result of that Junior Legion baseball game at York, where the Omaha Powers downed Mason City, 3 to 2. Umpire Joe now has the floor:

"It is doing 'Cordy' an injustice to charge that he permitted an Omaha base-runner to interfere with the attempt of the Mason City third-baseman to field a batted ball. I was back of the plate, passing on the balls and strikes, but nothing pertaining to the play escaped me and I can say positively there was no illegal interference.

"It is true that in the collision of the runner and the fielder the latter was knocked to the ground, but all that happened after the batted ball had gone past the third-baseman, so the 'interference' rule could not possibly apply.

Declares Cordes Saw Play Right

"IT WAS Cordes' decision, not mine, but if I had been the field umpire I would have made the same ruling. Most of the subsequent commotion seems to have been provoked by criticisms published at Grand Island.

"I'm not questioning the sincerity of the Grand Island writer, but it is clear to me that he did not see every phase of the play; that he saw only the collision on the baseline, but missed the previous incident when the Mason City third-baseman failed to field the batted ball.

"Figure it out for yourself. Neither Cordes nor I could have had the slightest reason for favoring the Omaha club. We were out there to do our job, calling the plays just as we saw them.

"It was an extra tough break for Mason City, which was in the lead, 2 to 0, up to the final inning, but Cordes would have missed the play had he called it any other way."

Tuesday Fight On Air.

The Billy Conn-Bob Pastor heavyweight contest Tuesday night will be carried over KMA (930 kilocycles) beginning at 8 o'clock, Lincoln time Sam Taub and Bill Stern will give the blow-by-blow account of the battle.

BLUES SET FOR FINALE AT YORK

Lincoln Youths To Battle Champs From Three Other States.

YORK, Neb., Aug. 12—Lincoln's Blues, the 1940 Nebraska state American Legion Junior baseball champion, will be a slight favorite this week-end when the title-holders of Nebraska, Wyoming and the two Dakotas collide in the four-state tournament at East Hills park here.

Champs of Four States.

The Blues will compete with Casper, the Wyoming champion; Sioux Falls, king in South Dakota, and Enderlin, winner of the North Dakota tournament.

Pairings are to be drawn at a banquet Friday night, with one game to be played Saturday afternoon and another Saturday night. Winners will meet Sunday afternoon for the title and the right to compete in the all-western tourney the following week at Trenton, Mo.

All-Western Finals.

Champions of three other four-state tournaments also will qualify for the all-western finals. Then, the ultimate winner will play the section B champion on Aug. 28-30 at Shelby, N. C., in the national semi-finals, and the survivor will meet the eastern king in the home town of one of the competing teams.

Comparative strength of the four teams entered in the York tourney is unknown. However, with Lincoln's fielding ability and the clever pitching of Bill Jennings and Bob Gropp, the Capital City nine rates a bit ahead of its foes.

Blues at Fairbury.

The Lincoln Blues will warm up for the four-state tourney this week-end at York by meeting Fairbury's Junior baseballers Wednesday night on the Fairbury diamond.

Top Place In Pennant Race at Stake When Detroiters Tackle Cleveland Rivals

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Oscar Vitt was in the happy position of being able to send Bob Feller, the best pitcher in the business, to the mound today as his Cleveland Indians opened an important two-game series against the Detroit Tigers at Cleveland.

In Tie For Lead.

The two clubs fought their way into a tie for the American league lead yesterday, each with 64 wins and 44 losses, and the outcome of their battles today and tomorrow might have a vital bearing on the race. After all, it's getting along in the summer, when pace-setters begin to crack.

BOBBY FELLER.

With Feller firing them across for the Indians and trying to rack up his twentieth victory of the year, Manager Del Baker of the Tigers was forced to call upon John Gorsica, his freshman ace, who has won seven and lost five. He didn't have a veteran star ready for duty.

Tigers Twice Defeated.

Should Feller win today and put the Indians out in front, it would not be surprising to see Vitt begin pitching his boy wonder out of turn and giving him frequent relief assignments in a termined effort to widen his lead and stay in front to the wire.

JOHN GORSICA.

The Tigers suffered painful losses to the Chicago White Sox yesterday, each by scores of 4 to 3, to lose the leadership. The Sox knocked Ace Buck Newsom from the hill in the first and beat Tommy Bridges in the nightcap, despite homers by Hank Greenberg and Rudy York.

Indians Split With Browns.

Cleveland gained a full game by splitting with the St. Louis Browns. Al Milnar scored his fifteenth win as the Indians took the first game, 12 to 4, but the Browns came back to knock Johnny Allen and Al Smith from the hill and capture the second game, 7 to 6. Walt Judnich his his twenty-second homer of the year for the Browns.

A brilliant youngster and a game vetean waged a thrilling mound duel at Washington, and in the end young Sid Hudson of the Senators beat Lefty Grove of the Red Sox, 2 to 1. Hudson gave five hits and drove across a run to score his tenth victory.

Yanks Bag Three Straight.

The Yankees made it three straight over the Philadelphia Athletics when Joe Gordon slapped a home run into the left field stands in the eleventh. Atley Donald pitched the last two innings for the Yanks and struck out five batters.

Cincinnati's National league lead was whittled to five games as the champions bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals twice, 3 to 2 and 3 to 1. Mort Cooper set the Reds down with two hits to beat Paul Derringer in the first, and Lon Warneke cut them down in the second. Enos Slaughter's two-run homer decided the opener.

Brooklyn gained a game by splitting with the Boston Bees. Bill Posedel, a former teammate, licked the Dodgers, 3 to 2, in the first, but Lefty Vito Tamulis blanked the Bees, 3 to 0 to make it a draw for the day.

Pirates Cop Past Cubs.

Frankie Frisch's amazing Pittsburghers scored twice over the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 3 and 1 to 1, vaulting into fourth place only two games back of the New York Giants. The Pirates have won 10 of their last 11 starts and are red hot, but they probably have too much ground to make up—some 13½ games.

The Phillies and the Giants broke even at Shibe park. Kirby Higbe snapped a nine-game losing streak for the Phils when he beat the Giants, 2 to 0, in the opener. Hal Schumacher then pitched an equally artistic victory for the Giants, 8 to 2, as he set the Phils down with three hits.

Amateur GOLF

PIONEERS had the big golfing day in the Capital City circles Sunday—rain or no rain...Pro John Peterson rigged up a series of contests to add to the excitement and Emil Frank, who posted a neat sub-par 71 for the day, also walked off with a tie for the least number of putts...Twenty-four swipes was all he needed and Earl Macoy was just as successful... Ben Hause was closest to the pin on No. 17, Bob Stauffer won the honors on No. 7, while lanky Gil Deitemeyer copped the driving contest on No. 9...Gene Masters had the longest tee effort on the final hole...Considering the elements, the scores were good... Herman Strackbein was around in regulation figures and Morrie Fisher and Vic Beck posted 78s... Wilbur Everett needed one more stroke, while Don Carrothers and Heinie Herzog carded 80s...Ed Letson and Gilbert Ditemeyer had 82s...W. Simpson had an 84, L. L. Polhemus an 86, Bob Brittin an 87, Bob Stauffer an 89 and Kermit Yetter a 92.

OVER at the Country club setting, Jerry unt, former ace of the Husker links team, was low for the day with a 74, while H. D. "Bill" Murrell was only one stroke away...Pro Ed Newkirk was busy peddling tickets for the approaching city compet, but he managed to corral these additional scores: Chuck Flansburg 76, Dick Spangler, Dick Rogers and Bill Rotton 77s, C. W. D. Kinsey 80, Tom Woods 81, Dr. J. J. Hompes 84, Clarence Hinds and A. E. Campbell 85s and Frank DeBrown 88.

ALL Pro Roy Andersen wanted to talk about out East Hills way was the rain and the city tournament...Les Davies, whose Broadview club will be host to the coming links wars, was about in the same mood...Davies announced that, due to the recent rains, the course would need to be mowed to get it into perfect shape for the tournament... He also wants the entrants to remember that Thursday and Friday will be the practice days... H. E. Alder with a 79 and Omar Hatfield with an 80 were tops at Broadview yesterday...Meanwhile, Andersen penciled a few East Hills hopefuls...Bob Malone, who has come along at a terrific pace this season, is one of his club's best bets, while Mel Schmidt and Rueben Becker might also go places...One thing is certain—there'll be more East Hills clubbers in the tournament this year than last—The ticket sales show this.

AND, speaking of ticket sales, Guy Hunt, who is in charge of the ducats, reported Monday morning that the sales were moving along quite briskly...He had just telephoned his agents at the various clubs and the outlook was announced as most encouraging.

Jeffs Regain Lead In B. Johnson Loop

FAIRBURY, Neb., Aug. 12—Fairbury regained first place in the Ban Johnson baseball league pennant chase by measuring Junction City, previously tied with the Jeffs, here Sunday by a 12-4 score. Fairbury took advantage of five Junction City errors and eight walks given by Cumberland, J. C. pitcher. The score:

Farley Delays Taking Over Yank Ball Club

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Postmaster James A. Farley will not take over the Yankees until after the close of the season.

"There are many things to be ironed out," said Farley yesterday at the Yankee stadium, where he watched the world champions whip the Athletics. Farley said he planned a tour of the club's minor league holdings before the season ends.

TURF EXPERTS STYMIED NOW

Smart Heads of Racing Unable Nominate 3-Year Champ.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—(INS)—Horse race fans who all season have been trying to name the year's No. 1 three-year-old found themselves more muddled than ever today as a result of Mioland's crashing three-length victory in the thirtieth American Derby at Washington Park Saturday.

From Start to Finish.

The Charles S. Howard entry broke ahead from the barrier and never was headed. A six to one third choice in the field of five, Mioland went into the stretch a length to the good and had enough left to put down emphatically a gallant bid by Sirocco.

In winning the $62,000 feature, Mioland further scrambled the three-year-old situation, which has been confused all year.

Sirocco, Charles T. Fisher's hopeful, was second; W. B. Simpson's Weigh Anchor third; Milky Way Farm's Gallahadion fourth, and Mrs. Emil Denemark's Super Chief fifth and last.

In Puddle of Mud.

A cloudburst a little more than an hour before the race turned the track into a marsh and led to the last-minute scratching of Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, which had loomed as the favorite. With "Big Bim" out, bettors turned to Sirocco, which was held to even money, and Gallahadion, a two to one shot.

As things stand, following Mioland's victory, he, Sirocco, Bimelech and Gallahadion hold all the three-year-old laurels, but apparently not even the keenest horseman in the land can say on any given day which of the quartet could beat the others.

Perry Not Contesting Wife's Divorce Plea

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12—(AP)—Fred Perry, British tennis star, will not contest the divorce suit filed by his beautiful film actress-wife, Helen Vinson. This was indicated today when the tennis player's attorney withdrew an answer which Perry had filed to Miss Vinson's suit last April 6.

GOIN' GUNNIN'.

PRETTY ILENE DAVIDSON of Alliance, Neb., has her eye on a title at the Grand American trapshooting tourney Aug. 16-23 at Dayton. More than 1,000 shooters are expected, to fire at three-fourths of a million clay birds.

MONDAY BLANK DAY IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Rain and wet grounds forced cancellation of the scheduled Monday night softball program at Muny Field and the two National division games in the American Legion Junior baseball league Monday afternoon at the L. H. S. diamond.

HARNESS ACES GO AT GOSHEN

Trotting Classic Slated To Be Up For Decision Wednesday.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—Until a dozen or so owners of speedy three-year-old trotters decide to risk $500 more on the chance of winning something over $20,000, there's no telling what will happen in the fifteenth Hambletonian Stakes Wednesday.

Wide Open Race.

The final payment is due tomorrow. Then the owners and trainers will have to decide whether their colts have enough chance to add that $500 to the $460 they already have in the pot. The way things look now, there are at least eight pretty sure starters and a half dozen others may go.

It's considered the widest-open Hambletonian since Lord Jim won back in 1934. And that might be a good hunch for the bettors, for one of the possible starters is Lord Jim's son, Gentleman Jim, owned by John F. Davis of Toledo and driven by H. M. (Doc) Parshall, who not only piloted Lord Jim to victory, but won again last year with Peter Astra.

Throng of 45,000.

The uncertainty of the race and the opportunity of seeing America's finest harness horses battling for a $45,000 pot are two big attractoins which will bring 45,000 or more people to this village of 2,300 inhabitants Wednesday. The other lure is that of Goshen itself and the county fair atmosphere of the town's annual big day.

The scene won't be quite the same this year at Bill Cane's triangular track at the edge of town. There's a big tote board in the infield and mutuel windows under the stands taking the place of the auction pool sellers and the bookmakers. There's a starting gate which has done away with "scoring" and a camera for close finishes. But the striped refreshment tents and the shirt-sleeved spectators from the country where old Hambletonian 10 was foaled will be there as usual.

Spencer Scott Favored.

Spencer Scott, a rangy colt owned by C. W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., and driven by Fred Egan, probably will be the favorite. Dunbar Bostwick's Kuno, 1939 two-year-old champion; Milestone, owned by Joseph A. Neville of Delaware, O., and Earl's Moody Guy, from the Lexington, Ky., stable of Earl F. Shropshire, are rated almost as good.

Today's feature for the opening day of the week of Grand Circuit racing is the appearance of Greyhound, world champion trotter, in the $2,500 trotting Horse Club Stake. The eight-year-old veteran, making a "farewell" tour, already has won four races in this series.

Stock Losses Cut Or Transformed Into Gains

Modest Recovery Gets Under Way

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Quiet resistance of steels and other selected industrials steadied the stock market today after considerable early hesitancy attributed to nervousness over fresh war developments.

Prices edged forward at the start, but soon backed away as intensification of the air battle over England caused many traders to lighten commitments pending more assurance the British could stave off what appeared to be the beginning of the long-threatened nazi invasion.

A modest recovery got under way after mid-day and, at the close, forenoon declines of fractions to a point or so were reduced or transformed into modest advances.

Dealings were about as slow on the comeback as on the initial retreat. Transfers were around 275,000 shares for the five hours.

Reluctance of share owners to part with their certificates, together with a little nibbling by bullish adherents, brokers said, emphasized the prevalent idea in commission houses that the huge armament spending plans of the government sooner or later would touch off a sizable business recovery.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem revived in the face of an officially estimated set-back in this week's operations for the industry of one full point at 89.5 per cent of capacity. It was the first halt to the rising trend which has been under way for six consecutive weeks and was blamed on vacation suspensions in some sections.

Among favored shares were Youngstown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Westinghouse, J. C. Penney, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of N. J. Kennecott and Celanese.

Rails, motors, utilities and aircrafts were narrow.

Bonds were a shade uneven. Commodities, spotty at one time, did better toward the finish. Wheat at Chicago ended up ⅛ to ¾ of a cent a bushel and corn was unchanged to off ¼. Cotton, in late transactions, was up 35 to 60 cents a bale.

Improved in a slow curb were American Cyanamid "B," Bell Aircraft, Gulf Oil and Republic Aviation.

Relays in passage of the revised national tax law, analysts suggested, tended to chill some prospective share purchasers. At that, the theory was held by a few broadroom observers that the excess profits provisions of the contemplated measure would be less burdensome than was first believed.

In diagnosing sharp group movements, Standard Statistics Co. commented on the fact that, strangely, issues of companies that stand to benefit from defense contracts did little in the past several weeks. In this category, it was added, were stocks of shipping, shipbuilding, lead and zinc, aircraft manufacturing, copper, glass and machinery. Doing better than the average were chain store, building and automobile company issues.

Those on the side of rails were impressed with data indicating the jump in freight loadings during the 12 month ended June 30, due partly to the sharply accelerated manufacturing upswing induced by war needs, boosted carrier revenues to the highest level for any calendar year since 1930 notwithstanding competing forms of transportation.

Electrical equipments came in for scrutiny as expanding inquiries for machinery brought predictions sales in this industry, if there is no let-down in the economic curve during the final half of 1940, should approximate this year the 1929 record of $150,000,000.

Wheat Values Gain Fractions

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—(AP)—Wheat prices advanced as much as ½ cent in some cases today as the market extended the recovery which got under way late Saturday.

Trade was largely professional in character, with some buying attributed to mills, while selling came from hedgers. Spreading activity also was in evidence but on the whole trade was quiet as dealers awaited developments in Europe. Evidence that large quantites of wheat are going into storage presumably for government loans helped to strengthen buying sentiment.

Wheat closed ⅛@¾c higher than Saturday, September 74¼@⅛ December 75½@⅜, corn unchanged to ¼c lower, September 60⅞@¾, December 56; oats ⅜@½c lower.

Grain prices held to a narrow rut in quie trading here today as the market continued its period of watchful waiting.

Wheat and corn dipped about ⅜ cents while oats and rye were off ½ cent at times but trading was on a small scale.

Grain trade authorities attributed the current period of restricted activtiy to a combination of factors which include the European war. With air warfar einceasing each day, many dealers hesitate to take a mrket position pending the reching of a decision in the conflict or pending at least a more definite idea as to the possible outcome. Upon the result of the war will depend, they say the immediate future of the international grain trade. Negotiations for third party food distribution in European occupied areas attracted attention there was a report that Rumania will sell wheat to Germany but the former country is believed to have little available.

Aside from the war situation, factors encouraging a waiting attitude in the wheat pit, traders said, include the fact that prices are below rates at which producers cooperating with the government can obtained loans, this stimulates the withholding of grain from the market as evidenced by the light hedging pressure in connection with movement of spring wheat. On the other hand hug esurplus supplies in North America, particularly Canada, do not encourage buying. Private authorities pointed out it will be necessary for the U. S. to export more than 46,000,000 bushels worke dthe past season if carryover a year hence is to be reduced from the prdesent total which is the largest since 1933.

Week end weather was satisfactory for each of the different grain areas. Corn belt precipitation and prospects of continued showery weather caused some selling in that pit.

Lard prices were steady.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Bonds remained ina mixed and narrow range today.

Near the final hour a sizable group of corporates, including both low yield and speculative ratings, were ahead fractions to around a point. Trading was light.

In the foreign dollar list German government loans retreated under modest offerings. Norway 4¼s advanced more than a point and Canada 4s moved up fractionally.

A spattering of U. S. governments hit the ticker tape at declines ranging to around ¼ point.

International Paper 6s moved ahead in comparatively brisk trade following reaffirmation by the company of newsprint prices through March 1941.

Other corporates marked up included Western Union 5s of '60, Portland General Electric 4½s, Porto Rican American Tobacco unstamped 6s of '42, Pacific Gas 3¾s and Anaconda Copper 4½s.

Among the losers were International Railways of Central America 5s, Burlington General 4s, U. S. Steel 2 35s, Northern Pacific 4s and Iternatonial Hydro Electric 6. s

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—The Swiss franc jumped .07 of a cent in the foreign money market today while the free pound and Canadian dollar were shaded in relation to the dollar.

Banking quarters associated demand for the Swiss currency with the fact the little neutral is the last major European nation where money restrictions are at a minimum and where the monetary unit has a gold backing. Consequently much of Europe's business is cleared through Swiss banks.

Switzerland in the past has been a favorite refuge for "frightened" money although it is believed a large part of the country's gold has been removed elsewhere for safekeeping.

Sterling dipped ¾ of a cent and the Canadian dollar ¼ cent.

Far eastern monies straightened out after last week's wide fluctuations. The Hongkong dollar lost .05 of a cent and the Shankhai dollar gained as much.

Flynn Says Willkie Perfectly Safe In Prosecution Threat

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Edward J. Flynn, chairman-elect of the democratic national committee, said today that Wendell L. Willkie was "perfectly safe" in threatening to prosecute advertisers in the democratic campaign book "as long as that huge 'if' is in the way."

He referred to Willkie's statement that such prosecutions would take place if the republican nominee is elected president.

In a statement referring to President Roosevelt's opponent as "'Straw Boss Willkie' of the utility interests," Flynn said:

"It so happens that the advertising contracts to which he refers were all entered into long before the Hatch bill, which he invokes, became a law. No advertisements are now, or will be solicited. x x x

"There never was any intention of placing the book on sale. It will go to 100,000 or more democratic speakers and workers like any other campaign book."

Flynn also called attention to an advertisement in a morning newspaper (New York Times) soliciting agents for an "authentic Wendell Willkie book by Willkie himself," to sell for $1.50.

Navy Flier Missing

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 12 — (AP)—A United States navy plane today burst into flames four miles offshore, its rescued naval reserve pilot said, and plunged into the Atlantic ocean as he and his companion bailed out. The other man was missing.

Lieut. C. E. Rieben, jr., 32, of Harrisburg, Pa., was quoted by Irwin Yost, coast guardsman who rescued him aboard a picket boat as saying he and W. C. Sayers, Philadelphia, naval reserve first class seaman, had been flying a half-hour when the accident occurred.

Lloyd Murphy, 1212 South Twentieth, reported that ornamental rims from his car were stolen some time Friday night or early Saturday.

Hatch Says Sale Of Democrat Book Would Evade Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — (AP)— Senator Hatch (D-NM) told the senate today that "sale" of the democratic national committee's campaign book would be an "evasion of the principle and purpose" of the Hatch act and an "evasion if not a violation of the corrupt practices act."

Hatch said that advertising sold for the democratic book prior to enactment of the law forbidding purchase of such articles from political committees technically was legal, but that sale of the book would nevertheless be contrary to the spirit of the law.

Hatch contended that since advertising in the books had been solicited from corporations, this amounted to "an indirect, at least, contribution" to the party.

Corporations are prohibited by the corrupt practices act from contributing to political parties.

COMMUNIST PARTY IS REFUSED PLACE ON ARIZONA BALLOT

PHOENIX, Ariz., 3—(AP)—The secretary of state's office banned the communist party from the Sept. 10 primary and November general elections today.

RUSH OF MARRIAGES MAY NOT SAVE MEN FROM MILITARY DUTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Young men who take their best girls' hands and rush to the marriage license bureau to become husbands before Uncle Sam can draft them for military duty, have no assurance that they won't be called for a year's active training under terms of the Burke - Wadsworth conscription bill now before the senate.

The measure contains no specific exemption for married men. They will be required to register for service, just as any other male citizen from 21 through 30 years of age, if it becomes law.

The president is authorized, however, to defer the training "of those men in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their deferment advisable." The measure contains no definition of "dependents."

Blake To Face New Charges As Result Escape

. . . FREEDOM BRIEF

Donald Blake, 19 - year - old Plainesville, O., boy, was back in the reformatory Monday facing an escape charge as the result of three brief hours of freedom which started early Sunday morning where he sneaked away from a farm manager's office at the institution.

County Attorney Max Towle said Blake may be charged with highway robbery and awaited a complete report before taking action.

Only last month the state pardon board cut Blake's 7 year robbery sentence to 5½ years so that he and his young wife, Evelyn, could go back to Ohio next year and make a second try at starting their high school marriage. Mrs. Blake is serving a term in the York reformatory.

Stole A Revolver.

Quartered in the manager's cottage over-night with nine other reformatory youths, Blake waited until the others were sleeping and then stole a .22 caliber revolver from the manager's office.

Armed, he took a reformatory truck and drove to a point a mile south of Pioneers boulevard on Twenty-seventh street. There he held up a couple parked in a car and forced the driver, Ronald Anderson of Lincoln, to take him to Omaha. From Anderson he took $8.

Anderson said Blake told him and his girl companion to drive to Omaha. When they let him out near the Hill hotel, Blake warned, "Don't you dare report this until you get back to Lincoln."

Blake's escape here wasn't known until Anderson returned from Omaha and reported it.

For Chicago "Hideout."

Meanwhile in Council Bluffs, Blake was picked up by police for investigation. While he was being questioned, a police radio broadcast was received, telling of the escape. Capt. T. J. Ryan of the Omaha detective bureau identified Blake as the fugitive.

In Omaha, Blake told officers he was headed for a "hideout in Chicago."

Three years ago, Blake and Evelyn Bayer surprised their Painesville friends by taking Evelyn's mother's car and embarking on a dizzy junket across country. Before that, Donald had been known in his home community as a quiet boy who frequently attended Sunday school.

He and Evelyn were married at Greeley, Colo. When they ran out of money, they turned to robbery and before a posse at Valentine brought an end to their travels with a running gun-fight, they had holdup records in four states. They were each sentenced to seven years, June 9, 1937, for robbery of a Valentine filling station.

Inquest In Death Of McIntyre Is Resumed

. . . Stabbed During Quarrel

AUBURN, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—A coroner's jury was to resume its inquest today into the fatal stabbing of Ival McIntyre, 26, a WPA worker who died after a fight with his wife in their trailer home.

Mrs. McIntyre, 30, was held at a hospital. No charges were filed.

County Attorney John P. McKnight opened his investigation Saturday afternoon and had additional testimony scheduled for Monday afternoon. He said Mrs. McIntyre told him her husband attacked her while they were quarreling about the grocery money he had lost in a dice game.

Lincoln Man Hurt In Ord Accident

Two state highway department employes were injured, one critically, in an automobile accident one mile north of Ord Saturday.

Charles Faughn of 3825 South Nineteenth street suffered two cracked ribs and bruises while W. L. Tunnicliff, jr., of Arcadia suffered a broken pelvis and other injuries. His condition was trmed critical by hospital authorities at Ord.

Faughn, who was driving, said the left front tire of his car blew out, throwing the machine off a bridge and into a creek. The car landed on its side after tearing out the bridge railing.

Faughn hailed a passing motorist and sent him into Ord for a doctor and ambulance. The accident occurred about 4 a. m. The two men were on their way to North Loup, where they were working, from Burwell after attending the rodeo.

Three Canals West Nebraska Being Closed

. . . Others Expected

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—R. H. Willis, chief of the Nebraska irrigation bureau, said canals of three western Nebraska irrigation districts would be closed sometime Monday to satisfy demands of the Platte Valley irrigation district, holding an appropriation priority dating to 1884, second only to Kearney.

Closed for an indefinite period will be Belomnt (Bridgeport irrigation district); Castle Rock and Enterprise.

Willis said Tuesday may possibly see the closing of Winters creek, Minatare and Tri-State canals.

Platte Valley's North Platte canal, Willis said, is entitled under its priority to 191 second feet of water and is now receiving only 50 second feet. Willis said action would not be necessary had not four districts between Bridgeport and North Platte, all junior to the districts which will be closed, obtained restraining orders preventing their closings after he had ordered their headgates shut. They are Union, Hooper, Blue Creek and Lisco districts.

Stop Generating Power.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Aug. 12—(AP)—The Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation district has halted power generation because water in the Sutherland reservoir is practically exhausted.

The district's power load was taken over by the Loup River Public Power district, which will supply Platte Valley customers until the fall storage season.

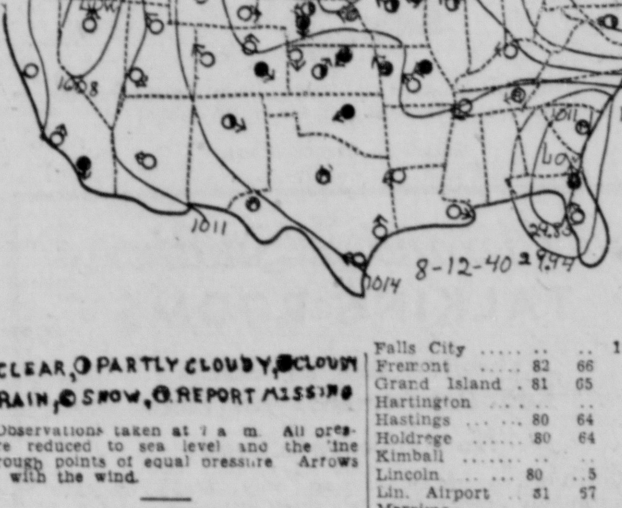

Project Manager Gerald Gentleman said he did not know when the district can resume water storage. He said irrigation would stop Monday when water backed up behind the diversion dam below the power plant would also be exhausted.

Emergency Crop, Feed Loans Now Available

Emergency crop and feed loans are now available to Lancaster county farmers at the post office building, J. F. Purbaugh, county agent, said Monday. Applications may be made with R. J. Burke, field supervisor of the crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration.

Loans will be made only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain money from any other source. Loans will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in planting his 1940 winter grain crops or in purchasing feed for his livestock. A first lien on the crop or livestock is required as security for the loan.

Casual Slaughters

By VIRGINIA HANSON

YESTERDAY: Sandra brings a pompous man named Ivan to a beach party. He looks like an actor but hints mysteriously that his vacation is a more vital one.

Chapter 13.
THE BARGE.

Adam put his hands under my arms and, lifting me quite easily—I am always surprised at the strength in Aaam's slender body—slung me over his shoulder like a sack of meal.

I stopped struggling when he began to catwalk along the narrow rim of the barge for, inverted as I was, I could see too clearly the thirty-foot drop on either side.

"Don't let go," I prayed, with what breath was left in my diaphragm. "There's unpleasant dark water in the hold of the ship."

"Rain water," he responded practically. "Probably mosquitoes down there. Must send out some kerosene before the next beach party." He eased me to my feet. "I could carry you down the ladder," he boasted, "but you might not like it."

"I don't like it anyway," I confessed. "But I prefer to do it myself."

Adam says that his ninety-ninth great-grandmother grew disgusted with the aquatic life one day when her old man rose to the bait for the last time. So, having a pioneering spirit, she marshaled her children and flopped ashore to try life on dry land. But he thinks it was a mistake. Once a fish, always a fish, he says, and darts around in the water in a most improbable fashion, usually with his head and shoulders above the surface and his arms and legs all over the place. Once when he swam up behind me and, wrapping them around me, bore me down, I thought an octopus had me.

I can swim, but I have yet to learn to breathe under water. He towed me to shore, finally, half drowned, and made me race him down the beach, almost, but not quite, letting me win. As I may have said, Adam is a man of principle.

Somewhat spent, I found a big piece of driftwood and sat upon it. He stood for a moment looking down at me, an odd little grin on his face.

"You're all right," he said and I thought he meant it for approval.

He sat down beside me then and began patiently to scoop and pour the dry, reluctant sand into hills and valleys.

"It's too dry—it won't stay," I told him after I had watched him idly for a few minutes.

"I know. You can't shape it. It's like this business of Immerman."

"Have you learned anything new?"

"Not a thing. He went back to barracks after you saw him at the Post Exchange, put on civilian clothes and said he was going to walk to the village. But no one admits having seen him there. We've asked at bars, pool halls, all the soldier hangouts. He had a girl who works at the local diner, but she says she hasn't seen him for two or three weeks. And she says he never gave her an insignia or anything else. I saw her myself, and I believe her."

"Felicia says the man jumped on her running board at the last red light in the village."

"I know. I asked her if it could have been Immerman. She says she never thought of it at the time, but admits she might not have recognized him with a mask on. She estimates the time at ten o'clock or later. It's not quite four miles to the village. He could have walked it in an hour, if he didn't pick up a ride. An hour and a half at the outside. So where was he between say four-thirty and ten o'clock."

Dollar Bills.

"Getting the money?" I suggested, with what I felt to be an inspiration. And then I remembered something. "What did you mean when you said Corporal O'Connor might be interested in that box of money?"

Adam grew a deep breath and looked at me queerly for a moment.

"He was," he said, and went back to scooping sand.

"Any particular reason? Unless it's a state secret. Oh, that's very good! State secret—state police. Get it?"

"It got it," Adam said discouragingly. "A very particular reason, as it happens. He's looking for a little matter of fifty thousand dollars in twenty-dollar bills—twenty-five hundred of them, if your arithmetic agrees with mine. It's no secret. You read about it in the Chicago papers in June. Remember the Randly child?"

"You mean—the little girl who was kidnaped for a week and brought back unharmed? Yes, I remember. And the fifty thousand is ransom money? Oh, Adam, do you mean that the man in the burning car was the kidnaper?"

"I'm afraid not. It would be nice to know the world was rid of him, but unfortunately it wasn't the right money."

"But how can you know it isn't the right money? It was all burned up!" An exciting thought — to have seen fifty-thousand dollars in ashes—probably the only form in which I would ever see it. "And maybe Immerman was the kidnaper, even if he did look like a bantam cock!"

Adam said, "You're not writing this, you know. You'll have to give the facts a chance."

"I'm trying to," I assured him. "If you'll only stop being so disgustingly important and mysterious and let out a few."

He laughed, in a satisfied way, and put out a hand toward me in an unfinished gesture that had grown familiar and puzzling to me—a reaching and withdrawing at almost the same instant.

He buried the hand and brought it up slowly, carefully, watching the sand run off in innumerable fine streams until only a few grains remained ridged along the back of each long, blunt finger.

"There are two good reasons why we know it was not the ransom money, and why we know the kidnaper was not Immerman. Reasons known only to Corporal O'Connor and me — and Colonel Pennant, of course. I'll tell you because I know you can keep your mouth shut, and because you have helped me before."

"Thank you. Now that we've got that straight——"

"As you may not know, the fingerprints of every officer and enlisted man in the combined services are recorded in Washington. That was a wartime innovation and has been in effect ever since. A federal investigator managed to get the fingerprints of the Randly kidnaper, and those prints are not on file. Therefore the kidnaper is not Immerman.

"As for the money—that was a neat bit of work on Corporal O'Connor's part. He practically built a box around those ashes before he moved them from the car. He handled them with such care, and they had been so well packed in that it was possible, back at State Police Headquarters, to determine the denominations of some of the bills and to make photographs of their charred remains."

Wizard.

"They weren't counterfeits?"

"Must I remind you again," he demanded good-naturedly, "that you are not writing this? They were not counterfeits. They were good old United States currency. But in so far as it was possible to determine, there were no twenties among them. There were upwards of two thousand bills; and the detective bureau, after hours of painstaking labor, were able to discover nothing but ones among them."

"Ones?"

"One-dollar bills. Probably two thousand of them, all packed in a pasteboard box and burned almost, but not quite, beyond recognition."

"Why, the man must have been a miser!"

He looked at me kindly. "Not a miser; a wizard. If you mean Immerman. It would take several years to put away even a thousand one-dollar bills on a soldier's twenty-one dollars a month. And Immerman was serving his first enlistment."

I frowned impatiently. "He needn't have saved it out of his pay. Maybe he inherited it, or stole it——"

"All in one-dollar bills?"

"Or earned it in his spare time——"

"Two afternoons a week for two years?"

"All right—what do you think?"

"I don't think anything except that it's fishy. And we know so little—we don't even know that the man in the car was Immerman. He was too badly burned to fingerprint him, and the man who would know about his teeth, if it was Immerman, is beyond reach for the time being. I mean the post dental surgeon. He has a month's leave with permission to visit foreign countries and is somewhere in Canada on a motor trip. We could probably get hold of him and bring him back, but it seems a shame to do it—the evidence will wait; and in the meantime we may get a line on Immerman. A soldier who knew him says he had been acting queerly, as if he was scared of something. There's always the possibility that he was in personal difficulties and has simply gone over the hill."

"What did the kidnaper look like?"

"No idea. No one saw him, and he's not a known criminal. The fingerprints are the only clue, which seems to indicate that he was a lucky beginner. Or unlucky, if you count the prints. No old hand would have left them—oh, oh! You're contaminating me with your low puns."

"Not bad for a beginner," I told him generously. "I won't charge you anything for the first lesson."

"What will you charge not to give me any more?"

"That comes high."

A faint halloo from the direction of the barge was succeeded by a clangor that sounded like someone beating out Coffee, coffee, coffee, without any cream on a tin pan.

FOOD RELIEF ADVOCATED BY HOOVER

Proposes Agency To Aid 27 Million People In Invaded Countries

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 12—(AP)—The organization of a neutral non-governmental agency to keep 27 million people in the little countries of Europe from "wholesale starvation, death and disease" was proposed today by Herbert Hoover.

Hoover, chairman of the American relief committee in the World war, said somebody "must raise a voice for food supply during the coming winter x x x in Norway, Holland, Belgium and Poland."

The former president, who conferred with republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie here yesterday, declared that some organization must be formed "if these people are to be saved."

Refers to Cudahy.

"It is impossible to understand what the administration in Washington means by statements that they do not have any facts; or why they recall an ambassador because he states a fact."

(John Cuday, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, was called home to report to the president after he advocated last week that the United States feed nazi-occupied countries).

Hoover said in an interview at Salt Lake City earlier yesterday that funds which the occupied countries have in the United States could be used to defray costs of a relief organization.

Will Maintain Blockade.

LONDON, Aug. 12—(AP)—A British spokesman declared today the blockade against Germany and nazi-occupied European states would be maintained vigorously and took the position that food for 18,000,000 non-German Europeans affected depended on "fair distribution by Germany which has an abundance of supplies."

This statement was made as the British withheld official comment on former President Hoover's request yesterday to permit the United States to supply food to the Netherlands, Belgium, Poland and Norway, pending formal receipt of the appeal.

Italy Turns Propaganda On Greece

Accused of Supplying Oil To British Craft And Conniving In Plots On Albanian Border

ROME, Aug. 12—(AP)—Italy turned her propaganda guns ominously on Greece today, charging the Greeks with supplying oil to British warships and planes and conniving with the British in "plots" along the border of Italian-conquered Albania.

The reported beheading of an obscure Albanian minority leader by Greek border raiders touched off a violent press campaign reminiscent of those by Germany against Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The Italian charges against Greece are the first to disturb relations between the two countries since the outbreak of the European war when both, declaring good will toward each other, withdrew their troops from the Albanian frontier.

Tension Had Eased.

This had eased the tension resulting from Greek fear of the Italians at the time of the facist annexation of Albania in April, 1939.

"Whoever touches Albania touches Italy," one authoritative fascist said in commenting on the reported "assassination" of Haut Hoggia, an Albanian nationalist leader by Greeks on Albanian soil near the Greek frontier.

This source said Italy probably would protest to the Greek government and indicated "serious consequences" were likely to result from the incident.

Described as Robber.

Fascists reported the body of Hoggia was found yesterday. An authoritative Greek source said Hoggia, whom he described as highway robber, was slain 20 days ago.

The fact Stefani, official Italian news agency, reported the "assassination" in strong language denouncing Greek "blind despotism" and "intolerable persecution" of the 50,000 Albanians living in the Ciamuria region annexed by Greece in 1913 meant the Italian government had "taken a position" on the incident, this source said.

Ciamuria is the region bordering on Greece where Hoggia is said to have been decapitated. Stefani hinted Albanian nationalists' reply might be to seize territory from Greece.

Disorders in Albania.

LONDON, Aug. 12 — (AP)—Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, reported today that disorders were spreading through Italian-annexed Albania as tribal leaders allegedly defied an Italian order requisitioning food and cattle for the armq.

Earlier reports by Exchange Telegraph said Italian troops had suffered 100 casualties in a clash with Albanians near the Yugoslav border.

Rev. Trickey Accepts Call To Vine Church

. . . Arrives Next Month

Rev. R. R. Trickey of Watertown, S. D., officially notified the congregation of Lincoln Vine Congregational church of his acceptance of an invitation to become pastor of the church. Rev. Trickey will succeed Rev. Richard Dawson, who accepted a pastorate in Arizona this spring.

In a leter to Mark Weldon, board of deacons chairman, Rev. Trickey stated that he and Mrs. Trickey would arrive in Lincoln in mid-September to take over his duties.

The announcement of Rev. Trickey's acceptance was made at a congregational meeting Sunday following the morning service.

It was announced that Rev. William Becker, superintendent of the People's City Mission, would preach next Sunday's sermon.
